

SLAIN AT DOOR OF FIANCEE

FORMER JUDGE TELLS HOW HE KILLED AIRMAN

Defended Wife, but Didn't Try to Slay.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 4.—Last Col. Paul W. Beck of the United States army air service was shot to death early this morning by Jean P. Day, wealthy oil operator, former state supreme court justice and leading lawyer. The killing took place at 230 o'clock in Day's home. Day says he found Mrs. Day struggling with the army officer and struck Beck over the head with a pistol. The gun exploded and blew Beck's head off.

Day has been released in $5,000 bond pending determination of what, if any, charge shall be lodged against him.

The dead man, a regular army officer and an overseas veteran, was in command of Post field aviation station at Fort Sill, Okla. His father was a brigadier general and the history of his family is interwoven with that of the fort.

Both Widely Known.

Day, an ex-member of the Supreme court commission, a Democratic politician of standing, head of several oil companies, and an attorney of many big cases, is one of the most widely known figures in the southwest.

So suddenly and unexpectedly did the tragedy develop that friends who had parted from Beck and the Day family a few hours before were amazed when they read in the newspapers this morning that Day had killed the guest who was to have spent the night in his home.

Mrs. Day has been too hysterical to give any coherent account.

In an interview tonight ex-Judge Day amplified the statement he had made earlier concerning the tragedy. Clad in a nightgown and slippers, with a burned and swollen face, he sat on the front porch of his home and calmly related the details.

"Didn't Mean to Kill."

"So help me God, I never meant to kill Beck," Judge Day declared vehemently.

"I loved Beck like a brother. He had my complete confidence. He was the run of my home. He was at liberty to come in unannounced for dinner or an overnight guest. He had entertained us often at Post field. No man could have trusted a brother more. He came up last night unannounced. He was sitting on the porch when I drove up at 5:30 p. m. Said he was coming to stay all night."

Judge Day said he and Beck and Mrs. Day dined at a hotel. Mrs. Day attended a motion picture show, but Day begged off. So Beck and Mrs. Day went to the theater alone, agreeing to pick him up later at the hotel, Judge Day said.

Events Preceding Tragedy.

Beck and Mrs. Day returned to the hotel and met Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Fritchard and other friends. They had a talk saying they had gone to Fritchard's home and asked Day to come there. Judge Day went and there the party danced.

"It was midnight or after when we left Fritchard's home," Judge Day said. "I suggested that they all come over to my house and dance and we came. May have been after 1:30 o'clock when the Fritchards started for home. They had no car, so I offered to drive them home."

"Mrs. Day was tired and did not accompany me. Beck said he would stay and entertain Mrs. Day. I may have been gone half an hour. When I heard my car on the driveway I heard a commanding voice coming from somewhere."

See Wife Struggling.

"The blinds in front were all up. I came up the side steps and saw Beck struggling with her. He was attempting to assault her, and as I hurried to the door I could hear her begging and pleading and trying to shame him."

"Beck jumped up from the couch as quickly as I came in the door and went toward the dining room. When I got my revolver and came downstairs Beck stepped out boldly. He looked me in the eye. I was just four feet from him. I said, 'Now you get out of my house, you cur.'"

"His right hand was clinched and he held hold of his Sam Brown belt. He pulled that arm back. It may have been for a blow. Though he might be armed. I did not know."

"I stepped in and brought my gun down on his head with great force. The impact discharged the weapon. That is the truth."

A committee of officers from Post field at Fort Sill will conduct an inquiry into the affair. It was announced today by Forest Hughes, county attorney.

DRY AGENTS TO USE PLANES IN WAR ON WHISKY

New York, April 4.—An airplane patrol to checkmate bootleggers who ply between Canada and New York in speedy motor cars will be the government's next move against rum runners, A. L. Thomas and Charles Lee Carron, prohibition enforcement agents, predicted today upon their return from a ten day tour of investigation along the Canadian border.

They declared there seemed to be no other way to stop the traffic, which was assuming larger and larger proportions. One farmer told them, they said, that it was not unusual for fifty to sixty automobiles to whiz by his house in a single night. So profitable was the automobile rum running business, they said, that bootleggers paid farmers fancy prices to keep the roads clear of snow during the winter.

At Buffalo, the agents said, thousands of gallons of liquor is being smuggled in at night by motor launches.

CONGRESS TRIES TO COAX COAL MEN TO PARLEY

Operators Asked to Meet Workers.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(Special.)—An invitation for a joint conference of bituminous coal operators and miners was extended today through Representative Nolan, California, its chairman, with a view to ending the coal strike.

Mr. Nolan, authorized by the committee to attempt to bring about the conference in Washington beginning Monday, sent telegrams to representatives of all leading groups of operators of the central competitive field, including those of western Pennsylvania and southern Ohio, who had previously refused to participate in a joint conference.

Lewis Says Men Will Come.

The committee had the assurance of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that the mine workers would join in the conference if sufficient tonnage is represented.

Representative Nolan sent one telegram to eight operators in the central competitive field who have indicated a previous willingness to attend a joint conference and a separate telegram to representatives of the western Pennsylvania and southern Ohio groups.

Operators Sought Illinois Strike.

Strikes of miners in Illinois in 1920 were fomented by the coal operators, according to charges by Mr. Lewis during a continuation of his testimony today before the committee. Mr. Lewis reviewed the situation which resulted in an increase of $1.50 per day in day labor wages in the fall of 1920, which, according to a declaration by Alfred M. Ogilvie, vice president of the National Coal association, before the labor committee last week, constituted a breaking of the contract of March, 1920.

Mr. Lewis declared that the miners had scrupulously observed the contract and recited the part played by former President Wilson in arranging a conference between operators and miners to consider a modification of day labor rates of the March, 1920, contract.

Mr. Lewis said that because of inadequate compensation for day labor in comparison with wages paid the tonnage men the coal operators experienced difficulty in obtaining sufficient day labor.

Owners Made Money by Strike.

"In our judgment, the strikes were largely fomented to create a situation where the operators could publicly raise wages," said Mr. Lewis. "The day after the increase of $1.50 was granted the large operators in Illinois increased the price of coal 25 cents per ton, whereas our figures showed that the extra cost of producing coal was from 6 to 9 cents per ton. Consequently this operation was very profitable."

Mr. Lewis asked about his ideas on government supervision of the coal industry, said that he had no definite program and that he did not consider government ownership feasible at the present time. An impartial commission should investigate the coal industry to suggest remedies for present conditions, he thought.

Representative Knight [O.] asked Mr. Lewis if it would not be possible to work out some plan of compulsory arbitration.

"I am opposed to even a modified form of compulsory arbitration," said Mr. Lewis.

Phone Talk Leads to His Detention

Fred Irvine, 32 years old, a south park policeman of 5943 South Ada street, was seized last night by Chief of Detectives Hughes and Capt. John Naughton as a suspect in the holdup at South Chicago Monday night in which a policeman and the treasurer of a building and loan association were killed.

With Irvine also were taken Miss Ruth Turner, a friend of Irvine, and Miss Anna Watson, 2829 South Park avenue, a telephone operator in a downtown hotel.

The arrests were made as the result of a telephone conversation alleged to have been overheard and reported by a ticket agent in one of the South Side Elevated stations.

Tells of Phone Call.

This ticket agent told the police, it is said, that about 3:30 yesterday morning Irvine telephoned to Miss Watson and told her that he "had $4,000 of the proceeds of a holdup in South Chicago in which two coppers were bumped off."

Irvine, in the conversation, the ticket agent said, told Miss Watson that he was much out of breath as the result of the chase. He said the car in which they were riding was riddled with bullets and that they had had to desert it.

On Jackson Park Beat.

On this information Chief Hughes took Irvine. They found that he had been on the south park force since March 1. At first he was assigned to a downtown beat. While on this assignment he met Miss Watson. Later he was transferred to Jackson park.

In the evidence, the police say, is four automatic pistol shells found in the recovered bandit car. Four shells were reported missing from the clip of Irvine's automatic pistol.

Chief Hughes announced shortly after midnight last night that Irvine and Miss Watson admitted that a telephone conversation had taken place in which the holdup was mentioned, but denied that Irvine had said he had anything to do with it.

Policeman Locked Up.

Irvine was locked up for the night at the Cottage Grove avenue station and the two women released.

A $500 reward offered by Chief Fitzmorris personally and an additional $100 offered by Lieut. Paul Wheeler of the South Chicago station yesterday spurred on the detectives who are conducting the search for the bandits.

The car used in the holdup was found early yesterday morning on East 67th street, a short distance from Cottage Grove avenue. Its license number showed it to be the property of Edward Gilbert, 1439 Carmen avenue, owner of a clothing store at 411 South Wells street.

Car Owner Is Held.

Gilbert was held incommunicado at the detective bureau on orders of Chief Hughes, even though he declared that the machine had been stolen from him two weeks ago. He will probably be released today, as witnesses to the holdup who viewed him last night were positive that he was not one of the bandits.

Among the suspects questioned by the police yesterday was Danny Harriett, well known west side character, who in the last three years has figured in several gun play episodes.

When arrested Harriett's left hand and arm were in bandages. These, he said, he got in a knife fight a few days ago. He probably will be charged with disorderly conduct.

MARY TO MARRY, BUT DINES WITH ACTOR FRIEND

Miss Baker Happy on the

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
Mary in haste and you'll never have seen her playing a Chicago engagement, is the philosophy of Mary Baker, who celebrated her return from California yesterday by dining with young Mr. Baker in the Blackstone hotel dining room.
Last night Miss Baker had planned to attend a performance of Barry Barker's play, but changed her mind and remained at home with the family and her mother.
The following piece of prose is what she wrote late last night. It was inspired, she said, by memories of happy, though sad, hours spent in a Franciscan mission at Santa Barbara.
A FRAGMENT FROM A FRANCISCAN CHAPEL.
The monks chant somewhere out of sight their dreary matins;
A lone robed novice kneels objecting to the aisle;
The air seems heavy with mumbled prayers, tempered hopes and dead desires.
Only one candle burns at the altar, and over the walls and old oil paintings cast long flickering shadows which make the figures on the crucifix seem to writhe.
It is an hour "macabre."
Barry Barker in a blue turtleneck suit, mole skin doliham, and patent leather hat, posed for pictures yesterday morning and admitted she had won the prize at the Santa Barbara horse show in which she rode her favorite, "Joan True." Barker, looking rather lively (to a m.m.'s early for actors, thought the protection of the depot smoking room.
Miss Baker, with her parents, the Alfred Landon Bakers, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, of 220 East Walton place, and their two small children, Jessica and Alfred Baker, bundled off in the family motor.
Meet in Hotel Lobby.
At 1:30 in the lobby of the Blackstone hotel they had their postponed meeting with Mrs. Baker as the third party. "If mother doesn't lunch with us," suggested Mr. Barker, "they'll think we're out on the sly." The "they" referred to the group of well bred but interested spectators.
"And if she does lunch with us," suggested Mr. Barker, "they'll think we're afraid to let us out alone."
Mrs. Baker had another engagement. Across the luncheon table the girl, looking over her corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley, told Mr. Barker of California, of moonlight and misty nights when she did her writing, and of the "conversation room" in a Santa Barbara home she visited.
Mary's Favorite Epigram.
"It was perfectly square and white and empty. When you entered you had to make an epigram. My favorite one is this: 'A perfect lover never loves' isn't that expressive?"
And then she wrote something "just for fun."
"Listen only to the tiny urge of a personal destiny called by a groping multitude intuition."
And this: "Like a gull flying slowly a loneliness on some rock bound coast."
After a moment's pause, the girl smiled unhesitatingly. "Sensitive people are those who are afraid of the world's opinion."
"I haven't much inspiration," she said, fingering the mammoth sapphire engagement ring. "I write better when I'm alone" and she desisted.

FLIRTING WITH ETERNITY

(TRIBUNE Photo.)

When a Baltimore and Ohio freight train sidwiped an automobile yesterday at West 55th street and Seeley avenue John Kehoe, 40, 7709 South Sangamon street, a superintendent for Armour & Co., and a passenger in the car, escaped with minor bruises. Joseph Hubert, 40, 1602 West 63d street, driver of the car, was unhurt. One side of the automobile was torn away. The frame was twisted. The top part of the car was knocked completely off. One-half of the rear end was demolished. Hubert said he did not see the train approaching.

fancy for fact, the facts of her departure for England.
Her plans are briefly: Leave Chicago on the Century Sunday morning accompanied by her mother and maid, both of whom are to make the trip with her. Arrive in New York Monday, meet her cousin Louise Kimball from St. Louis, who is also to sail with them. Sail on the Aquitania Tuesday.
"The ship docks at Cherbourg," said Miss Baker. "Allister will meet me. I'm not sure. Mother and I will spend a week or so in Paris with the Viscountess de Jaurès. We'll buy a 'supplementary trousers.' Just a few things. Then on to the home of Allister's brother, Edward, at Shaw's, St. George's hill, Weybridge. I'll stay there until the ceremony."
"A handsome Monday night in New York," sympathized the actor who recently left there. Miss Baker nodded affirmatively.
"St. George's hill. I can just see it on a hill," and the friend of the family visualized the nuptial setting of the American man and girl in his own home country.
Baxter Explains Banns.
Then followed a discussion of the banns. "You have to establish a residence in the parish," Barry Baxter explained carefully. "I think it's four weeks. Then the banns have to be read for three successive Sundays."
"That will leave plenty of time for any one to come over from America and stop the ceremony," suggested Miss Baker. But it was only a joke for she laughed at the idea.
"Honey-moon?" mused the bride-elect. "Venice in August. It would be nice, wouldn't it?" and her eyes followed her voice directly across the table.
"How long a honeymoon? Until our money gives out." But this, too, seemed a joke to the couple.
According to present plans Mr. McCormick may return to Cambridge to continue studies in architecture. This will mean, declared the girl, that they would return to United States only for a month's visit next Christmas. Mrs. Baker will come home directly after the wedding ceremony.
Mr. Baxter's plans are indefinite. He had hoped to sail for home in England May 3. But his play will take him to Los Angeles. And Los Angeles is not "especially attractive, just now" he maintained.

HARVARD EXPELS YOUTH ENGAGED TO GIRL SUICIDE

Cambridge, Mass., April 4.—Bayard Wharton, Harvard senior, was requested to withdraw from the college after a meeting of the administrative board today. It was stated tonight, Wharton, the son of a Philadelphia banker, was a guest at the party at which Pauline Virginia Clarke, noted model and actress, died of poison and died soon after having announced her engagement to Wharton.
Otto Halder Larsen, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology senior, who also was at the party, ended his life by taking poison from the same vial used by Miss Clarke.

France Rejects Year Term for Army; Takes 18 Months

PARIS, April 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The one year army service law was defeated in the chamber of deputies today by a vote of 314 to 227, after Premier Poincaré insisted upon passage of the bill providing for eighteen months' service, which the government approved as necessary for France's security.

IRISH TROOPS MUTINY; OUST FREE STATERS

25 Sinn Feiners Slain in Tyrone Battle.

BELFAST, April 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—A mutinous section of the Irish republican army today seized the Milford barracks, in County Donegal, after ejecting the Free State garrison.
Col. Montague Bates, chief of the southern division commission, said today that orders had been given to the Sinn Feiners at Ballagh bridge to cease firing and that these orders were being obeyed. Despite the lull in sniping activities, however, Ulsterites have not been permitted to return to their farms, which are occupied by southern Irish.
Excitement has transferred to the desolate Sperrin mountains, in North Tyrone, which are swept nightly by large bodies of brown forces, who are sometimes fired upon by Sinn Feiners.
25 Sinn Feiners Killed.
Frequent encounters have been reported in this area, and the Belfast Telegraph correspondent says twenty-five Sinn Feiners have been killed and many more wounded.
Two bombs were exploded here tonight and there was some shooting. Two women were wounded.
Bernard McMahon, eldest son of Owen McMahon, head of the Belfast Catholic family seven members of which were shot by a band of men on March 24, died today. McMahon and four of his sons died on the day of the shooting.

Belfast's Death Score.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, April 4.—(By Tribune Wireless.)—Winston Churchill in the house of commons this afternoon stated that between Feb. 10 and March 26 in Belfast, thirty-two Protestants were killed and eighty-six wounded, and fifteen Catholics were killed and 115 wounded.

A LITTLE BELFAST

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
NEWRY, April 4.—If the Wilsonian doctrine of self-determination were applied to this city the people would desert the Ulster government, according to a majority of the persons interviewed here. The Unionists admit their numerical minority. Their abhorrence of the thought of being under the Dublin administration is no greater than the repugnance of the Nationalists for the Belfast authorities.
Newry, politically, is a lively place. It is a little Belfast, despite the presence in Newry river of a British gunboat.
For its size Newry has a large list of alternate killings of constables and Catholics.
Hears Police Declare Vendetta.
The last constable was shot down Thursday. In Dublin at the time I was told the police of Newry had declared a vendetta and had prepared a list of Sinn Feiners to be executed as the police fell. A barrister named Collins was supposed to have headed the list, but it was the body of Joseph Garvey which was found with four bullet wounds.

The unofficial boycott of Belfast, the thefts of the south bound mails, the dissemination of the Irish republican army, the forceful interference in the courts and the anti-treaty demonstrations are given by the local unionists as reasons why they never will be ruled from Dublin.
Few with whom I talked believe it impossible for Dublin to have a stable government for many years and they are more expectant of bloodshed than of order and unity in the south.

Says U. S. Gunmen Are Imported.

They spoke of rumors that the republicans are importing gunmen from the United States. They pointed out that the provisional government makes no efforts to interrupt the operations of black republicans who weekly are growing more bold.
One student of the Irish character asserted that Eamon de Valera has material for causing almost unending trouble because his appeal is more attractive. Mr. Collins promises peace and work and Mr. de Valera war and excitement.
Hundreds of officers and men believe that the army was responsible for what Ireland got from England and that nothing matters now but the army. Some persons say they would not be surprised to see a dictatorship set up and they ask what would Mr. de Valera's position be under that.

BUILDER WARNS JUVENILE HOME WORK MAY STOP

Construction will be halted on the new juvenile detention home unless the county board rescinds yesterday's action by which it delayed payment of $45,000 due for completed work. John W. Snyder, the contractor, said last night. The building is at Ogden avenue and Roosevelt road.
The board's action is said to have had some relation to the calling of a strike on the building by officials of the carpenter's union and to the fact that the building engineers working there are said to have been locked out.
The Snyder company is operating under the terms of the Landis award and is a member of the Associated Builders and allied with the citizens' committee. The carpenter's union has refused to accept the wage scale of $1 an hour fixed by Judge Landis.
Several county commissioners said yesterday that it might be a month before Mr. Snyder was paid his money.
"I am proceeding with the work," said Mr. Snyder yesterday. "I have made no changes in the personnel of my employees. I think the matter will be settled amicably after the primaries. If not, I will just suspend operations. I will not give up my rights in doing so, as the county has clearly violated its contract."
The building is about one-third completed. If the county were held liable in the event work is stopped, it would mean a loss to the taxpayers of about $400,000, it is said.

LIVELY "SCRAPS" FEATURE COUNTY BOARD CONTESTS

Country Towns Battle to Smash Old Combine.

This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with the many angles of the contest in both the Republican and Democratic county primaries.

BY PARKE BROWN AND E. O. PHILLIPS.

Two real "scraps" and a number of other interesting situations are found in the hostilities that center around the nominations of both parties for the county board.

On the Republican side the student of politics finds his thrill in the county towns battle. Here the Brundage and Deneen groups are almost in harmony. They seek in one move to accomplish two purposes of about equal importance. They hope to defeat the so-called Weber-Hoffman-Busse commissioners for re-nomination. And, since the country towns elect their precinct committeemen on Tuesday, they are attempting at the same time to break the hold of that old time trio on the party organization in the suburbs.

On the Democratic side, the contest for the board presidency between A. J. Cernak of the regulars and Daniel Ryan, running on the citizens' Democratic ticket, is admitted to be a good fight. Of all the nonregulars Ryan, who is serving out the unexpired term of the late Peter Reinberg, is said to have the best chance of victory.

Women Enliven Battles.

Possibly of a less exciting nature to older school politicians, but probably of wider interest, is the recognition and active participation of women in the race for county commissionerships. For the first time all parties and factions have included women in their slates and are backing them as heartily as any of the males. The women themselves, of course, are extremely active.

Largely as a result of an early start by the Women's Roosevelt Republican club, the Republican groups were the first to give their support to women candidates. The women's organizations urged that two of the ten places within the city and one of the five places in the country towns go to women. The result was that the Brundage forces slated Mrs. Emily W. Dean and Miss Helen M. Bennett in the city. The Deneen group slated Mrs. Myrtle Hunter Blackledge and Mrs. Winifred McNabb, but in the Illinois Mrs. McNabb was dropped for Joseph Depotto of the Nineteenth ward.

Crowe Slates Two Women.

In the country towns there was a Brundage-Deneen agreement on Mrs. Gertrude C. Lieber of Winnetka. And the Crowe group placed Mrs. Helene Lusk and Mrs. Bertha M. Severin on their city ticket. So there are six women candidates supported by one or more of the major Republican factions.

The Democratic organization made up for lost time by persuading the county board to elect Mrs. E. W. Bennett in the old vacancy left by the death of Peter Reinberg. Then they included her in second place on their list of endorsements and are backing her all the way for the nomination. They included Mrs. Jean P. Washburn of Evanston and Mrs. Elizabeth Schroyer of Congress Park among their five country town candidates.

Stage Queen of Yesteryear Sells Furniture for Food

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—Three old fashioned pieces of furniture, which might have been the pride of some Victorian drawing room, were carried down the narrow stairs of the apartment building at 253 West 43d street today. There were two chairs, gilt, fragile, richly upholstered, and with them a gilt settee shaped like the letter S—what the belle of the puffed sleeve period knew as a tête-à-tête chair.

In the tête-à-tête chair the second Mrs. Dion Boucicault once sat. Maurice Barrymore and Effie Shannon had occupied its companions, each an item in the mounting of Oscar Wilde's great play, "A Woman of No Importance," a quarter century ago. Long cherished by its owner, the gilt suite has at last changed hands.

Rose Coghlan, in her day undisputed queen of the American stage, now superannuated, ill, and remembered by few except the dramatic critic seeking a by-word for historic excellence, was selling off, piece by piece, the things dearest to her heart.

A reporter found Miss Coghlan, now 71 years old, quartered in a three room apartment on the third floor, whose windows look out on a dismal vista of backyard fences and rubbish.

The woman, who for three years reigned as Lester Wallack's "lead," who played Broadway and toured the country for as many decades as head of her own company or star in some one else's, lay ill in bed. Since she suffered a braincell hemorrhage three weeks ago she had been unable to be about.

Miss Coghlan's daughter, Rosalind, confessed that her mother was on the verge of want. The former actress-manager, who won fame as the star of "Forget Me Not," "Triby," "A School for Scandal," "As You Like It," and "Diplomacy," was dropped from the cast of "The Squaw Man," in which William Faversham played the lead, seven months ago because her memory was failing her and she had to be prompted in her pitifully few lines.

This trio has boasted of having the Chicago suburban vote "in their pockets." But that was largely a tradition that had been allowed to continue since the time that the country towns were so small they could be pocketed. That the situation has changed was demonstrated clearly in the last judicial election when the "three kings" set out to deliver the country towns for the city hall hand picked slate and were soundly thrashed by the coalition.

That attempt is still held against Weber et al. in the suburbs, but a still greater offense in the minds of the anti-machine voters is that it was Weber, Hoffman, and Busse who did deliver to Lundin and Thompson enough county committee votes to enable them to call a convention and put the machine slate into the field; that, in fact, it was they who handed over the old Republican county committee to the "plunderbund."

Turned Down by Leaders.

Several months ago the "three kings" began to feel out their way to break from the machine and line up with the anti-city hall forces in some way. The Brundage-Deneen forces—their harmony—turned down their overtures.

When State's Attorney Crowe and his city committeemen were shut out of the Brundage-Deneen camp by Deneen's attitude the prosecutor and his friends began building up their own anti-city hall organization with the best material at hand. They were not so unreciprocative as Brundage and Deneen had been and, upon assurances that they also had departed from the Lundin fold, admitted Weber, Busse, and Hoffman.

At this time the "three kings" already had under way their ticket for the five country town places on the board. They were backing Busse, George A. Miller, William H. Maclean, and Dudley D. Pierson for re-nomination and added Frederick W. Penfield of Glencoe for the fifth place. Busse was a candidate for the presidency.

On this basis they were accepted in the Crowe camp.

But, in addition to being under political charges because of their city hall allegiance through the "three kings," the four sitting commissioners on the slate had been accused of several sources, the fact was well established that there was a bi-partisan deal between the four Republicans named and enough Democrats to control not only the "jobs," purchases and contracts of the county board, but also the appropriations for the county offices in which Weber et al. were deeply interested.

The same charge has played an important part in the political fate of Daniel Ryan. Last spring the regular Democratic organization announced that an and must be made to bi-partisan deals with the city hall in the legislature, the city council and the county board. The county board delegation refused to carry out the order.

Ryan Gets the Blame.

Much of the responsibility for that refusal was charged up—rightfully or wrongly—to President Ryan. He denies emphatically that he was a member of such a combination, but it was largely because of this charge, the regulars say, that he was refused a re-nomination for the presidency.

The regulars were willing to give Ryan an endorsement re-nomination for one of the ten city seats on the board as with the rest of the board, but when he consented to become a candidate for the presidency on the Citizens' Democratic ticket his name was dropped from the major organization's list. Ryan has strong independent backing that absolutely denies he ever had had traffic with the Lundin crowd.

The other sitting Democrats, Commissioners Fitzgerald, Whealan, Burg, Wilson, McKinlay, and Novak were endorsed by the regulars along with Cernak for president and seven new candidates, including Mrs. Bemis, John Budinger, Joseph A. Mendel, Frank F. Roeder, Maurice F. Kavanagh, Maurice T. Cullerton, and William J. Connor.

From this list the Citizens' group has endorsed Mrs. Bemis, Whealan, Roeder, McKinlay, and Novak. Its additional candidates include their two women, Frank Ragen, William D. Scott, and President Ryan.

The Crowe city candidates for the board in addition to those already mentioned, include Albert Swanson, William J. Grace, James A. Scott, Roy C. Woods, Eden T. Brekke, and Charles Hopfinger.

The only other complete city committee ticket in the field is that backed by the ex-service men's committee in the Republican ticket. Because of its lack of organization support it is not considered a serious contender against the others entered.

ELEVEN JURORS FAIL TO APPEAR; SCANLAN ANGRY

After eleven tallestmen, summoned for duty on the new special grand jury, failed to appear yesterday afternoon, Judge Kichham Scanlan ordered Sheriff Charles W. Peters to produce them before him at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

It had been intended to impanel the jury yesterday to take the place of the one recently discharged. Judge Scanlan was indignant and made caustic comments about citizens who refused to take their jury duties seriously. The new jury will replace the body which investigated alleged mistrials in recent labor cases. Judge Scanlan at first refused to believe that the veniremen intended to avoid appearing and he became angry when he was finally informed only one had sent an excuse for non-appearance.

"Citizens seem to feel that a grand jury summons can be treated with contempt," said the judge. "We cannot let such disregard for the law pass unchallenged. These men must be taught that the duties of citizenship are real and not to be held lightly." Among those who did put in appearance were many who sought dismissal. Excuses offered ranged from hardness of hearing—from a piano tuner—to a mispelled name in the summons. One man sent a note saying he was sick. Judge Scanlan promised investigation of the attempt to avoid service and intimated contempt proceedings might be forthcoming.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to itchy eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store. Wyeth Chemical Co., New York City.

OLIVIA STONE TO KNOW HER FATE TODAY, FORECAST

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—Olivia M. P. Stone, on trial in the Brooklyn Supreme court for the murder of former Corporation Counsel Ellis Guy Kinkaid, her alleged common law husband, possibly will know her fate tomorrow. Both sides rested their cases today.

Dr. Sylvester J. Leahy, an alienist for the state, expressed his belief that Miss Stone was sane when she shot Kinkaid last August. He said he had never heard of temporary, transitory emotional insanity, from which Dr. Annette M. Ralston, an alienist for the defense, had testified Miss Stone was suffering. He was equally unfamiliar with "brain explosions," mentioned by his fellow alienist.

Charles J. Sawrie of South Nashville, Tenn., testified that in March, 1904, Miss Stone introduced a man with whom she was walking as her husband. Sawrie said the name she mentioned was either Elby or Shelby.

DISMISSALS FOR GOOD OF SERVICE, PRESIDENT SAYS

May Go Into Details at Some Future Time.

GEORGE B. CHRISTIAN.
(Copyright: U. S. C.)

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[Special.]—President Harding believes that he was justified in dismissing from the bureau of engraving and printing former Director James L. Wilmett and all the division superintendents in the bureau.

The President authorized the announcement to the public that he acted for the good of the service in the whole matter of dismissal last Friday night.

No Explanation Now.

That there may some day be a complete explanation of the reasons underlying the drastic executive action was predicted in official quarters. Men high in official life who are close to the administration said that the charge of partisan politics in connection with the affair is entirely unfounded, but that there can be no public explanation at this time for very important reasons pending the conclusion of an investigation, which is now proceeding into the affairs at the bureau.

It is true that there are no specific charges to be made, it was stated, but later on there might be disclosures bearing on a general charge of inefficiency and laxity in the bureau. The firm attitude of the administration served to revive the rumors today that there had been a duplication of Liberty bonds from the engraving plant, but officials would not admit it.

President Issues Note.

The President replied today to the memorandum left at his office yesterday by the dismissed officials, authorizing his secretary, Mr. Christian, to issue the following:

"I have written to the President the statement left by you and your associates on the occasion of your call at the White House this afternoon," the letter read. "He asked me to reply and said that he would have been glad to meet your delegation had he been present at the time of your call, though he is not yet prepared to make his statement relative to the executive order which was made effective on Friday evening, March 31."

"The President has had no wish to reflect upon the character of any government employee, but he did hold that a sweeping change in the bureau was essential for the good of the public service. He regrets the humiliating publicity no less than those who have been discontinued from the public service."

Bitter Political Wrangle.

Bitter partisan turmoil broke out in congress when Senator Caraway (Ark.) Democrat, and Representative Byrnes (Tenn.) Democrat, tried to get action on their resolutions to investigate the wholesale dismissals from the bureau.

Superheated attacks by the Democrats on President Harding drew acid retorts from Republican leaders. Senator Caraway declared that it was "a deplorable thing" for the President to do injury to any of the government employees and then to decline to say why.

JAPAN HURRIES PEACE WITH REDS AS TROOPS CLASH

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

TOKIO, April 4.—Japanese and Chita Red forces engaged in a sharp skirmish near Spasskaya yesterday in which the latter lost eighty killed, according to dispatches received from Vladivostok and confirmed by the Tokyo foreign office today.

The fighting began when 800 Reds, ordered to disarm by the Japanese, opened fire on the militia's troops. Other fighting is reported from along the Ussuri railway in which the Japanese suffered little, the Reds being untrained recruits and poor shots.

The effect of the latest news was to hurry the Dairen negotiations between the Japanese and Chita delegates, which are now reported to be approaching a satisfactory conclusion. The final Japanese note has been answered, and the reply will be considered at tomorrow's session of the advisory council.

See Japanese Plot.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The declaration that the clash yesterday between Japanese and Chita forces in the vicinity of Vladivostok was the outcome of a deliberate policy of Japan, which proposed an advance in Siberia, was made today in a formal statement issued by the special trade delegation of the Far Eastern republic to the United States.

Violated U. S. Mail Laws

H. H. Schaefer, Morris Apelman, and Louis Bass were found guilty of using the mails to defraud by a jury before Federal Judge George C. Carpenter yesterday. The three defendants operated an office at 108 South La Salle street under the name of H. H. Schaefer & Co., brokers. They were alleged to have obtained more than $100,000 through a fake stock selling enterprise.

RECEIVER FOR SWIFT SURE OIL TRANSPORT CO.

New York, April 4.—Alleging indebtedness of $19,487,904, three creditors today filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Swift Sure Oil Transport Inc.

Petitioning creditors were the Northwestern Steel company, with a claim of $1,260,000; Northwestern Bridge and Iron company, with a claim of $133,197; and Callahan & Derry, merchants, with a claim of $490.

The complaint, filed in federal court, alleges the corporation recently transferred to the Emergency Fleet corporation a half dozen oil tankers to secure a mortgage of $13,493,706.

This mortgage, the complaint charges, was executed on Dec. 31, 1921, while the Swift Sure concern was insolvent, thereby committing an act of bankruptcy, and that it had been done to give preference to the fleet corporation over other creditors.

Federal Judge Augustus N. Hand later appointed John S. Sheppard receiver in bond of $5,000.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court today against Slattery & Co., Inc., stock brokers. No mention was made in the petition of assets or liabilities.

FIND KAVANAGH RULING ON WOMEN FITS SMALL CASE

Can't Sit on Jury, Opp
of Attorneys.

The course to be followed following the attack by attorney Gen. Len Small upon the jury list of Lake county is expected to be decided by a decision of the state supreme court. The governor's case up in the Waukegan court is morning.

It is understood two courses under consideration. One was no arguments whatever, but to the matter, solely to Judge Chalmers as to whether or not a woman has a right to sit on the jury under the law, it is pointed out that there would have been no reason for including them on the jury list.

The other course considered present arguments on the ground that women can be made ineligible to jury service in Illinois as a matter of fact.

Cite Court Decisions.

Arguments are presented will be buttressed mainly by recent court decisions in New York and Massachusetts holding women ineligible to jury service in those states. The nineteenth amendment by the decision handed down by the Supreme Court last June 1919, was held to be a part of the law.

In this case the exact point in question. Judge Chalmers has asked for a writ of mandamus to compel the board of jury commissioners to include women on the list. Attorney Levy Mayer presented an able brief opposing the writ, but the court has not yet taken from Judge Kavanagh's decision. In this regard the jury list is still in question.

"Mr. Levy Mayer appears friend of the court in these things, at the request of the jury commissioners. He has favored them with what is, in form, a brief more than that. The brief takes a treatise on the origin and history of the jury system, so complete and that it deserves to be preserved as a part of the records of the law."

Attorney Mayer's brief at the time took cognizance of the decision between the Michigan and

Can't Sit on Jury, Opinion
of Attorneys.

The course to be followed in answering the attack by attorneys for the Small upon the legality of the jury list of Lake county was determined upon yesterday at a conference of counsel for the state at Wauegan. The governor's case comes on for trial in the Wauegan court again this morning.

It is understood two courses were under consideration. One was to offer arguments whatever, but to leave the matter solely to Judge Claire C. Edwards as to whether or not women have a right to sit on the Small jury. If they have no right to sit on the jury there would have been no legal reason for including them on the list.

The other course considered was to present arguments to the general court as to the legality of the jury list in Illinois only by affirmative statute.

Cite Court Decisions.
If arguments are presented they will be buttressed mainly by recent Supreme court decisions in New York and Massachusetts holding women ineligible to jury service in those states despite the nineteenth amendment, and by the decision handed down by Judge Kavanagh last June holding women ineligible for jury service in criminal cases in Illinois.

In this case the exact point raised by the Small attorneys at Wauegan was in question. Edda Berglund Ekberg had asked for a writ of mandamus to compel the board of jury commissioners to include women on the jury list.

Attorney Levy Mayer presented an able brief opposing the issuance of the writ that "no appeal has been taken from Judge Kavanagh's decision. In this regard the judge in his opinion said:

"Mr. Levy Mayer appears as a friend of the court in these proceedings, at the request of the jury commissioners. He has favored the court with what is, in form, a brief, but it is more than that. The brief constitutes a treatise on the origin and history of the jury system, so scholarly and complete that it deserves to be preserved as a part of the literature of the law."

Contention of Small's Lawyer.
In attacking the legality of the Lake county jury list, Attorney Werner W. Schroeder cited decisions in Nevada and Michigan. Judge Kavanagh in his opinion laid emphasis upon the Nevada law under which "each woman herself is permitted to determine when it would be wise or unwise for her to sit upon a jury."

Attorney Mayer's brief at that time took cognizance of the difference between the Michigan and Illinois statutes covering jury service. Under the Michigan statute women became eligible to jury service as soon as they obtained the right to vote.

"In Illinois, on the other hand, in selecting jurors in each county," said Mr. Mayer, "the jury commissioners shall prepare a list of all electors between the ages of 21 and 40 years, possessing the necessary legal qualifications for jury duty, to be known as the jury list."

"Thus it will be seen that in Michigan jurors who are citizens are required to have only 'the qualifications of electors,' while in Illinois jurors who are citizens must possess 'the necessary legal qualifications for jury duty'—not the 'qualifications of electors.'"

ONTRA patrons share most liberally in Ontra profits. The above chart shows the history of every penny received for Ontra meals during 1921.

Your protection and ours is the ONE AND FOUR-TENTHS CENTS profit which we receive on the average meal—an almost unbelievably small profit per meal, although substantial in the aggregate.

While the Ontra pays top wages to all employees of the rank and file, no excessive salaries are charged off to executive expense.

Such allurements as premiums, gifts and musical entertainment are notably foreign to the Ontras. Ontra patrons little value such offerings, and greatly value quality of food and accommodations.

So moderate is the Ontra margin of profit that even a five per cent premium (amounting to only two and one-half cents on a fifty-cent meal) would exceed the entire profit per meal.

MISS HELEN V. ROBINSON.

Miss Helen V. Robinson, 13, a graduate of Hyde Park high school, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon when she fell under a north bound Illinois Central train at the 63d street station. She was a telephone operator and resided at 1407 East 66th place.

According to witnesses the girl was about to board the train when she slipped and fell through the opening between the platform and the train gate. The train started and she was crushed. Shouts of persons on the platform resulted in a quick stop, however. John Lyons, a special policeman, pulled her from beneath the train.

ONTRA patrons share most liberally in Ontra profits. The above chart shows the history of every penny received for Ontra meals during 1921.

Your protection and ours is the ONE AND FOUR-TENTHS CENTS profit which we receive on the average meal—an almost unbelievably small profit per meal, although substantial in the aggregate.

While the Ontra pays top wages to all employees of the rank and file, no excessive salaries are charged off to executive expense.

Such allurements as premiums, gifts and musical entertainment are notably foreign to the Ontras. Ontra patrons little value such offerings, and greatly value quality of food and accommodations.

So moderate is the Ontra margin of profit that even a five per cent premium (amounting to only two and one-half cents on a fifty-cent meal) would exceed the entire profit per meal.

Miss Dutton invites you to come to the Ontra today and enjoy the choicest foods at breakfast, luncheon or dinner, at costs of a moderation attainable only through the most efficient management.

The duty on sugar was to be made 50 marks per 100 kilograms.

G. O. P. MARGIN SLUMPS IN HOME TOWN OF SMALL

Decreased Majority in City Election.

Kankakee, Ill., April 4.—(Special)—The Republican ticket today carried into office all its candidates but one, defeating the "For Lower Taxes" ticket by majorities averaging 100 votes. Gov. Small, who lives here, was backing the Republican ticket. In the last two campaigns he carried the town and county by majorities of two and three to one. The defeated candidate today was T. J. Clark, present highway commissioner.

Clark was originally elected as an anti-Small candidate, but switched his allegiance when Small became governor. He is credited with being responsible for the two good roads in Kankakee county, one passing the governor's home, the other passing his farm. Both these roads were built at public expense, without cost to Small. A huge campaign fund and the personal popularity of the Republican candidates is believed responsible for the victory.

G. O. P. Gains One at Springfield. Springfield, Ill., April 4.—Republicans of Sangamon county, facing an intense factional fight in the April 11 primaries, gained one member of the county board in today's township election, according to complete unofficial returns tonight. The political complexion of the new county board will be: Republicans, 34; Democrats, 16.

Macomb Abolishes City Court. Macomb, Ill., April 4.—Macomb today voted by more than the necessary two-thirds majority to abolish the City court. The court has been in existence more than twenty years.

Claim Biggest Precinct Vote. Jacksonville, Ill., April 4.—(Special)—What is believed to be the largest vote ever cast in the United States in a single precinct was today at a road district election in Morgan county. The district recently took in the city of Jacksonville and the election today was the first one in the enlarged district. The total vote cast was 4,042.

Rockford to Independents. Rockford, Ill., April 4.—The independent ticket defeated the Labor Legion, a combination of Socialists and liberals, in six of the eight wards of the city. Supervisor and assistant supervisors, park commissioner, and town officers were also elected by the independents.

Oglesby Elected a J. P. Elkhart, Ill., April 4.—Former Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby, defeated in the 1920 Republican primaries for governor, was elected justice of the peace here today without opposition.

Uncle Joe's Town "Sticks." Danville, Ill., April 4.—Republicans carried the city and township elections, carrying the entire township ticket and reducing the Democratic representation in the city council from seven to four.

SEE OPEN SHOP AS A RESULT OF GLAZIER STRIKE

The placing of another building trade union on an open shop basis appeared likely yesterday when it became known that the executive committee of the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award will meet this afternoon with the glazing contractors to investigate the sympathetic strikes of union glaziers on a number of jobs where Landis award painters are being employed.

Townships, Cities, and Villages Hold Elections

All townships outside Chicago, five villages and two cities in Cook county, held elections yesterday. In the townships, supervisors, clerks, school trustees, assessors, justices of the peace, and constables for the next two years were chosen. The assessors do not take office until Jan. 1 next. In the villages chief interest was in the election in Oak Park, "the largest town in the world with a village form of government."

In the Evanston city election Ald. T. S. Roberts of the Fourth ward was defeated in the only contest. H. C. James, an ex-service man, polled 271 votes, while Ald. Roberts received but 195. Those elected are:

First ward, M. M. Hawley; Second ward, E. K. Hardy; Third ward, C. E. Gorton; Fourth ward, R. E. James; Fifth ward, J. P. Powers; Sixth ward, M. B. Sterrett; Seventh ward, Clyde S. Ester.

Seven aldermen were elected in the Berwyn city election, as follows:

First ward, A. R. Kinney; Second ward, Max Bahr; Third ward, H. E. Blackwell; Fourth ward, J. H. Landman; Fifth ward, A. H. Landman; Sixth ward, Charles Street; Seventh ward, Frank Meisels.

Following are the results in the villages:

Oak Park—Trustees: William J. Jones, Walter E. Babler, and William J. Untied; president village board, Willis McFeney; clerk, H. N. Landman; police magistrate, Frank A. McKeel; library board, W. W. Raleigh, and Morris H. Beach; highway commissioner, M. B. Orde, Alia Sager.

Winnetka—Trustees, L. S. Aldrich, M. A. Langworthy, and R. F. Tenney; treasurer, W. E. Davis; clerk, Stella Winslow; marshal, Theodore Flynn; library board, C. B. Prouty and R. B. Mason.

Calumet—Supervisor, Carl Schwartz; clerk, Frank Losmann; assessor, S. W. Jellima; collector, Emil J. Wasek; highway commissioner, Henry C. Aulwurm; constable, Andrew Benkowski.

Elk Grove—Supervisor, Louis Helmuth; clerk, A. B. Schirringhaus; assessor, George Meier; collector, Herman Busse; highway commissioner, William C. Willie; school trustee, Albert Wille.

Hanover—Supervisor, C. A. Gifford; clerk, Ben Schula; assessor, H. L. Ottendorf; collector, Henry Gromer; highway commissioner, H. L. Ottendorf; school trustee, William Busch.

Glendora ran for two offices. For assessor he was 598 votes ahead of his opponent. For highway commissioner, Henry Roth, who stood second, received three votes less than Ottendorf. The question is raised whether Ottendorf can hold two offices. A recount is probable on the highway commissioner vote.

Lemont—Supervisor, Patrick J. Henneberry; clerk, H. A. Woods; assessor, John Goodin; collector, John Carlson; highway commissioner, Henry Schneider.

Leyden—Supervisor, Frederick Joss; clerk, Henry Burkman; assessor, A. B. Kinch; collector, A. H. Duestman; highway commissioner, Frank Gert.

A majority of 2,641 votes out of a total of 7,979 for an amendment to the Volstead act to permit light wines and beer was registered at Oshkosh.

G. O. P. Sweeps St. Joe. St. Joseph, Mo., April 4.—George McIninch, Republican, was elected mayor of St. Joseph today over Dr. J. C. Whitell, the Democratic candidate, by one of the largest majorities ever given.

Palmyra—Supervisor, Peter Lucas; clerk, P. J. O'Connell; assessor, John M. O'Connell; collector, William H. Looram; highway commissioner, Henry Koper; school trustee, Thomas Wagner; justice of the peace, C. D. Egan and Robert Baird; constable, Richard Banks.

REDS IN MEXICO SEIZING LANDS AND FACTORIES

How Far Will Obregon
Let Them Go?

The fourth article by Mr. Kinley on conditions in Mexico is printed below. Other articles will follow. Mr. Kinley has just returned from a 4,500 mile trip through that country to learn if the propaganda now flooding the United States for recognition of the Obregon government by Washington is justified.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Above the ruins of walls and houses on the edge of the city of Puebla, second city in the Mexican republic, the red and black flag of the Socialists was flying in front of the old wall stretched across a vacant square of land invaded by the city laborers a few weeks ago under the instigation of former Gov. Sanchez, who has since been ousted by that Puebla congress after civil war threatened in the city. A peon guard came suspiciously out from a hut as the photographer snapped.

A mile further out of the city, in a wide and fertile valley that commands a clear view of old "Pope," the newly active volcano, and the "Sleeping Lady," who rests serenely in her white bed 18,000 feet above the sea, a greater area of land had been seized under the sanction of the Mexican agrarian law, all privately owned property taken without compensation.

Plant the Red Flag.

Here the peons had built an earth barricade on which the red flag was planted and were working on adobe houses for their families and had begun to scratch the soil. They had demanded higher wages in the factories, and when this had been refused the governor had told them to take the lands and make a living that way.

Another tract nearer the city, along the edge of a lovely drive and parkway, had been similarly taken. The new governor, a young man of moderate socialist tendencies, it is hoped in the city, has not taken any action yet, except to propose a plan to pay the owners for the assessed value of this land. There are 16,000 organized workers in the district.

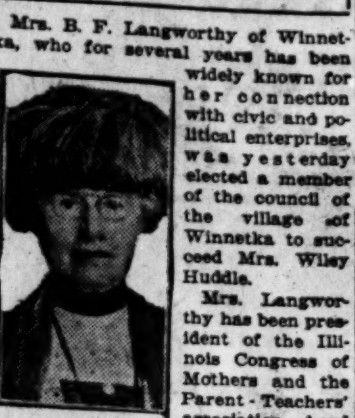

That the red movement is strong in Mexico cannot be overlooked. The question is how far it runs the government and how far it has permeated the official and working classes.

Governor Hypnotizes Peons.

When the peons saw their governor, Sanchez, a year or so ago, a ragged peon himself, placed in power in the palace, wearing a fine uniform, riding a fine horse, commanding an army, his work making the shopkeepers tremble, levying taxes with magnificent carelessness, it is no wonder they followed him.

But Sanchez went too far. He killed the goose of the golden egg. He taxed

WOMAN LEADER IN WINNETKA IS NOW ON COUNCIL

Mrs. B. F. Langworthy of Winnetka, who for several years has been widely known for her connection with civic and political enterprises, was yesterday elected a member of the council of the village of Winnetka to succeed Mrs. Wiley Huddle.

Mrs. Langworthy has been president of the Illinois Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teachers' association, head of the committee on girls' work of the war camp community service in Chicago, chairman of the women's division of the Hoover campaign committee, and vice chairman of the Women's Committee Coalition Nonpartisan Judicial Ticket.

She was not opposed in yesterday's election.

Land was taken where wanted regardless of any communal rights theory. One American lost one farm and 50 per cent of another. He is hopeful, however, and expects to get the land back, and has since invested in more land.

A woman who had an orchard planted with California fruits, wells, and machinery developed, lost the property.

"Strangle" Law Upheld.

The famous "strangle law" was announced, under which the labor syndicate ran the factory and had the power to examine books and demand 10 per cent profits, semi-yearly vacations, well before. This was held up in the courts.

The business men refused to pay taxes. Opposition developed in consequence.

gross. Two of the leaders, the Moreno brothers, were killed in the street.

The long suffering "middle class" rose and threatened a revolution. Sanchez was given an indefinite leave of absence. He threatened to loot the city with his army. Obregon sent down federal troops. Business was closed for three days while the soldiers paraded. Then Sanchez gave up and went to Mexico City. The federal government was against him.

Puebla has been hard hit. The people are hoarding gold as if expecting trouble. There is no paper money in circulation anywhere in the republic. The Spanish consul in Puebla owned a farm near town, which was rented. This was one of the properties taken under protest, a protest somewhat valueless now, as the Spanish government has recognized the validity of the laws under which the government is acting.

AMERICAN HELD AS MURDERER.

Rafael Erikorian, 40, 2533 Marmon avenue, an Armenian, was ordered held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of murder by the coroner's jury investigating the death on March 6 of John Uziachian, 40, 2533 Marmon avenue. Police say Erikorian confessed shooting Uziachian after the disappearance of the former's wife.

JOHN BLODGETT ELECTED HEAD OF U. S. LUMBER BODY

John W. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected president of the board of directors of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Congress hotel. The general session of the twentieth annual meeting of the association will begin today and will be followed by the fourth American lumber congress. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

GREEK THREAT OF SMYRNA REVOLT WORRIES BRITISH

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, April 4.—[By Tribune Wireless.]—British diplomats are much worried over the attitude of the Greeks in Smyrna. They are said to be planning to rebel and set up an independent state rather than accept the decision of the powers to turn over Smyrna to the Turks.

The Smyrna Greeks have set up a committee in London. The great ship owner, Mr. Stavridis, and Gen. Francis, who are head of this committee, are in constant communication with the British government as well as with Greek colonies abroad. They are said to be raising funds among Greeks everywhere.

The members of the committee are all Venizelists, and it is believed they hope to use Smyrna as an excuse for a political coup in Athens in favor of M. Venizelos, who is expected to arrive here from New York in about a fortnight. Experts on Greek affairs say if the Athens cabinet takes a firm stand in accepting the allies' peace proposals, the Smyrna committee's plan will probably be abandoned.

GERMANY JOINS SOVIET ENTENTE IN GENOA PARLEY

Backed by Teutonic Industry.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, April 4.—Close cooperation of the Russian and German delegations to the Genoa conference became assured today, according to reports from well informed circles, following consummation of an economic understanding between Foreign Minister Tchitcherine, Chancellor Joseph Wirth, and Foreign Minister Rathenau, as well as agreements which have reached the soviet delegation from certain representatives of German industry and finance.

Tchitcherine's agreement with Herr Wirth and Herr Rathenau was reached following the withdrawal of his original plan for German participation in the economic rehabilitation in Russia, which provoked violent opposition in Moscow, as well as fierce attacks against Herr Rathenau personally by the soviet press, and was responsible for the Kremlin's recent overtures to Victory for Soviets.

Therefore, whatever success Radek and other soviet negotiators failed to achieve in their approaches to President Poincare, it may be said that their diplomacy led directly to Herr Rathenau's modification of his proposals to Moscow's satisfaction. On the other hand, it is said that Herr Rathenau has informed the German and allied circles that the reparations commission's moratorium negotiations, as well as President Poincare's whole attitude to the Genoa conference, is responsible for Germany's running into Moscow's arms.

The Russo-German economic understanding was marked further by Germany finally agreeing to turn over the former imperial Russian embassy in Berlin to the bolsheviks, something the latter have had their heart set upon for a long time.

In the final agreement, resumption of consular relations in both countries was also reached.

Poincare Going to Genoa.

PARIS, April 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The French attitude toward the Genoa conference has undergone a great change in the last forty-eight hours, the coolness and skepticism previously shown in official circles having given way to the sentiment that something must come out of the conference, and that the French delegation must go to work wholeheartedly to that end. Premier Poincare has definitely decided to go himself as soon as his official duties permit.

TWINS WANTED FRANZ TO HAVE THEIR ESTATE

H. Goldson, manager of the Plaza theater, 308 West North avenue, yesterday disclosed that Rosa and Josefa Blazek, Siamese twins who recently died, told him they wanted their estate to go to Franz, 11 year old son of Rosa. The twins played their last engagement at the theater before going to the hospital.

The estate is valued at $200,000. Search has failed to locate any will. According to Mr. Goldson he visited the two women in West End hospital and asked them, in the event of their death, what they wished to do with all their money. Both replied they wished Franz, the boy, to get the estate, he said.

WRITES NOTES TO WIFE AS DEATH BY GAS NEARS

New York, April 4.—Notes written in a diary by a hand turning cold in death was the legacy left Mrs. Eugene K. Martin, whose husband today was found dead in his east side apartment, a suicide by gas.

Written under April 4, in a clear, firm hand, was the first entry: "I am the result of thirty-eight years of one failure after another."

Equally firm was the entry: "Listening to wireless while undergoing this process of destruction."

"Then, a little less legible: "I am still on my feet, but starting to get dizzy."

Still less controlled the hand that wrote: "I am weaker."

Just readable: "Good-by, Alice, God bless you. I love you."

Then a wavy line—a sentence never completed.

THIS IS WEEKLY FEATURE EDITED BY A PRESIDENT

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., April 4.—(Special.)—President Harding and other officials of the government have a deep interest in the development of the great lakes-St. Lawrence seaway project. This is one of the important matters among many, which is being given consideration by the administration as disclosed at the White House today. Views of the President on several subjects as revealed authoritatively today were:

Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway.—The President is much interested in this development as recommended by the international joint commission. The best method of procedure by which to favor the movement is under serious consideration. There is a conflict of opinion as to the most speedy way to proceed in a matter of this kind, which also involves the government of Great Britain. It is the judgment of the administration that properly a treaty with Great Britain will have to precede any legislative enactment on the subject by the American congress. There has been no definite decision, however, but an executive policy will be formulated in the near future.

Navy Personnel Controversy.—The President conferred today with Representatives Madden (Ill.) and Kelley (Mich.) on the matter of size of the navy personnel, which is in controversy in the house. Today's conference was to get the viewpoint of the appropriations committee, which is urging an appropriation involving a large reduction. The President will now seek the viewpoint of the navy department, in order to have a clear understanding of the situation. The President has not changed his view that the reduction proposed by the appropriations committee is too drastic.

Genoa Conference.—Revised reports that the President would send a special observer to the economic conference of European powers at Genoa were again denied by the executive.

Foreign Debt Funding Commission.—The executive still is anxious for the funding commission to begin its negotiations with debtor nations with respect to the refunding of the foreign loans. Notwithstanding the attitude of the senate judiciary committee, which reported that there was a constitutional inhibition against Senator Root and Representative Burton serving on the commission, the President has an impression that the senate will not support the committee view and will confirm both appointments anyway. He hopes so.

EVILS IN BUILDING INDUSTRY DRAW FIRE OF HOOVER

Must Clean House, He Tells Chicagoans.

Directing his attack on wasteful practices in industry, Albert W. Whitney, president of the American engineering standards committee, declared last night that billions of dollars could be saved annually in the United States through industrial standardization.

Mr. Whitney was one of a dozen speakers, among them Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, who spoke before the National Construction congress at the Drake hotel yesterday. All of them united in denouncing wasteful practices in building construction and industry.

Mr. Hoover declared that certain practices of a minority in the construction industry are unendurable. He threatened government regulation unless there was a thorough house cleaning in the building trades and the employers' and manufacturers' associations.

RADIO COMPANY NOW CONTROLS WIRELESS PHONE

License System Hinders All Development.

This is the third of a series of articles concerning radio telephony, its history, its recent popularization through the installation of broadcasting stations, the methods used in the manufacture and sale of radio apparatus, and other facts, compiled by The Tribune to give its readers a comprehensive and non-technical view of the industry which has jumped overnight into a national fad. Inquiries concerning radio should be addressed to the Radio Editor, Chicago Tribune.

BY CHARLES SLOAN.
On Oct. 1, 1920, when The Tribune installed its first transatlantic receiving set and began operating the world's longest and only newspaper wireless circuit—Bordeaux to Chicago—the radio phone was virtually unknown to the public.

True, experiments had been made by many scientists. The army had successfully used the radiophone in artillery observation and direction. The navy had used the radiophone and the marine telephone in the direction of its submarines. But it wasn't until some one in the organization of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company conceived the idea of a gigantic telephone transmitter that would hurl music, speeches and news into the air to be picked up hundreds of miles away that the public awoke to the possibilities in the industry.

Public Gets Interested.
The installation of Station KDKA in East Pittsburgh, home of the Westinghouse company's greatest plant, was followed by a veritable deluge of inquiries as to where receiving sets could be purchased. The Westinghouse company, pioneers, immediately jumped into quantity production. Since their original "short wave" receiver was placed on the market, they have followed it with many other models ranging from a crude crystal detector to a radio phonograph.

Station KDKA was followed by stations in Newark, N. J., and in Chicago. The fad spread. Other electrical companies jumped into the field and began manufacturing. Today there are nearly 100 broadcasting stations. There isn't a section of the country where one can't listen in with a receiving set to a musical program.

IGNORES REQUEST OF BEGGAR FOR A DIME; IS STABBED IN BACK

"Have you got a dime, mister?" queried a shabbily dressed "panhandler" of Charles Thim of 147 West Huron street early yesterday morning at the corner of La Salle and Superior streets. Thim ignored the query and continued on his way. This beggar, pulling out a knife, stabbed him in the side and fled down an alley. The victim walked to the Piquette hospital, where his wound was dressed. The injury was not considered serious.

CHARLES THIM.

unique method of wiring the bulbs together that would increase by far the receptability of the ordinary receiver. This system, called the Armstrong regenerative circuit, was also patented and is still the best known method of "hooking up" a radio set. These patents in time came to be the property of certain of the large electrical concerns. These concerns went into conference and from that conference emerged the Radio Corporation of America—the alleged trust which Representative Britten recently asked congress to investigate.

This concern was made the general selling agent of the companies entering into its organization and in addition controls the manufacture and sale of all materials operating under the vacuum tube and Armstrong circuit patents.

Controls Radiophone.
In reality it controls the radiophone industry. It throttles the development of commercial radiophony by "licensing" its vacuum tubes "for amateur and experimental use only." It issues "licenses" to manufacturers who wish to make receivers which in any way conflict with the Armstrong circuit patents. If the manufacturers don't deal with the corporation they generally end up in expensive litigation. The Radio Corporation of America doesn't manufacture radio supplies yet. It is understood that it will do so soon, however.

The corporation is popularly said to be backed not only by the Westinghouse and General Electric industrial systems but by the American Telephone and Telegraph company as well. The Radio corporation, by ownership of American east coast stations and excluding contracts with the British Marconi, the German telefunken, and the French radio company, has obtained almost complete control of transatlantic wireless communication and is trying to obtain a similar control on the Pacific.

As to commercial radio telephony in the United States, the American Telephone and Telegraph company is now building stations for that purpose.

Secretary Denby's Left Eye Periled by Cataract
Washington, D. C., April 4.—Secretary Denby may lose the sight of his left eye, due to a cataract, it was learned today. One slight operation has been performed without affording him relief and fears were expressed that the sight cannot be saved.

PAINTS BRITAIN BEING DRIVEN TO RUIN BY TAXES

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, April 4.—[By Tribune Wireless.]—Sir Arthur Shirley, a business man, told the British chamber of commerce today that the present scale of taxation is driving England to disaster.

"The country cannot stand the present level of taxation any longer," he said. "The life of the modern business man has been made a protracted torture. The bulk of taxation paid today is not coming from the income, but from the capital of the country."

"A little more and the whole economic structure must collapse beneath the strain. It is the firm belief of those best able to judge that a reduction of 1 shilling, or even 2, from income taxes, would act as a powerful tonic to trade and the revenue from the increased volume of business would more than compensate for the tax reduction."

Referring to Germany, Sir Arthur said: "Almost alone among nations, Germany has been enjoying industrial prosperity, but the boom is based on sham. Every one in Germany is buying, because next week prices will have risen. Germany is working twelve hours daily and the future holds little in store for her if matters continue in their present course."

Sir John Rees, in the house of commons this afternoon, also drew attention to the dangerous state of English trade and finance. He was speaking on the increase in expenditures for social services, which have grown from £25,000,000 (roughly $110,000,000) in 1910 to £125,000,000 ($1,451,000,000) in 1920. He said 20,000,000 people out of a population of 45,000,000, exclusive of the employed, were in receipt of public assistance last year.

It should be explained that many of the 20,000,000 were counted more than once, each one being counted each time he received assistance.

Drawings for today's opening games of the national interscholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago were made yesterday, with two of the twenty-six teams entered still to make appearance.

Twenty-four of the teams had arrived during the day and made their first game on Thursday afternoon. The teams found time to work out on the floor during the morning and afternoon.

Play will begin at 9 o'clock this morning and continue all day. Ten games being played. Six of the teams drew byes and will play their first games on Thursday afternoon.

Each team will play one game a day until Saturday, when it will become necessary for some to play two games when the semifinals are reached.

Teams Show Class.
The class of the prep players shown during the workouts yesterday was much better than seen at any of the tournaments so far. All the teams have good records, being either winners or runners up in their state tournaments.

A fast drill was staged by the teams from Missouri, Mont., Berkhampton, W. Va., Grinnell, Ia., and Mount Vernon, O. These teams seem to be very well balanced and evince a lack of individual stars, a good thing in tournament play. Three brothers make up the bulk of the Grinnell five. They are touted as about the best high school basketballers in Iowa.

New Trier vs. De La Salle.
The only local team entered in the tournament is New Trier High, whose first game will be played against De La Salle of St. Louis at 5:30 tonight. If they should win this game the Kenilworth boys will go against the winner of the Berkhampton-Detroit game. Teams drawing byes for the first day were:

Grinnell, Colo.; Waukegan, Ill.; Home Ford High, Nashville, Tenn.; Missoula, Mont.; Annapolis, Wis.; Big Horn High, Crow, Wyo.

BATTERY E WINS 3D BASKET PLACE
With O'Neill leading a fast attack with five field goals and five free throws, Battery E defeated Headquarters, 25 to 13, for third place in the 122d Field Artillery tournament at the armory last night. In the curtain raiser the Jefferson Park Girls beat the Millard Avenue, 17 to 4.

In tonight's games the Uptown Brownies will meet the Waukegan Girls in a curtain raiser to the regimental championship tilt between Batteries B and D. Lineup:

ART YATES LEADS IN NORTH-SOUTH GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., April 4.—Arthur Yates of Rochester won the gold medal in his third consecutive Pinehurst amateur golf tournament when he led the field in the thirty-six hole qualifying round on the north and south amateur championship.

Yates did well to win the medal, as his masher, nibbler and putter were missing from his bag when he went to his locker just before starting, and he went to the course with five strange clubs. He broke three of these when he started with three 8's, a 4 and a 7, but he had a long putt for a 2 in the ninth to get out in 41 and then came home in 35.

Lowery, with a 74, and Thomas with a 75, had the lowest rounds of the day. Those who qualified for the championship match play were:

Arthur Yates, Rochester, 74 78 150
J. M. Scott, Pinehurst, 74 77 151
W. C. Fowkes Jr., Oakman, 76 78 154
Edward Lowery, Norfolk, 80 74 154

FARRELL LEADS PROS
Washington, D. C., April 4.—Equalizing the course record in his first round with 69, John Farrell of Hollywood led a field of forty-two professional golfers in the spring open tournament of the Columbia Country club here today. His total for the first thirty-six holes was 144.

Three shots behind came Jack Hutchison, British open champion. Hutchison led Mike Brady by three shots for the thirty-six holes, while Cyril Walker of New York, who finished last, also turned in a total of 150.

Hagen Drives Fifth.
Walter Hagen of New York, twice winner of the American open championship, was fifth with 151, and Laurie Ayton of Chicago was sixth with 152. The tournament will conclude tomorrow. Leading scores:

John Farrell, Hollywood, 69-75-144; Jack Hutchison, Chicago, 75-75-150; Mike Brady, Detroit, 77-77-154; Cyril Walker, New York, 75-77-152; Laurie Ayton, Chicago, 74-78-152; James M. IN the WAKE of the NEWS

INTERSECTIONAL SPORT.
THE WAKE would regard as unfortunate the enactment of a Big Ten rule prohibiting intersectional contests between college athletes. If the question were left optional with each college, we do not think faculty boards, whose approval must be obtained, would allow their athletic departments to "run wild."

The object of such a rule, we suppose, is to place all schools on an equal footing. When one team engages in sectional contests, the tendency is for others to follow that example. Sectional contests usually are attractive to the students and the public, but they have their disadvantages. With limited schedules, a college to play such games must eliminate a natural rival or a practice contest. Thus intersectional contests between two teams seldom extend over a period of years, but at times are a variation from the annual fixed events.

We think it desirable for young men of one section of the country to become acquainted to measure their skill and strength against young men from another section of the country. We think it a partial antidote for provincialism.

Youthful Infractions.
There is one provision in the new Big Ten code which we cordially approve. That is for consideration of offenses against amateurism prior to enrollment. We never could believe that the boy who in his early youth received 50 cents or $1 as a prize for some running race at an outing was a black-hearted professional. Yet such is the amateur rule.

Knuckles Down.
With the spring there comes a seething to my heart a restless feeling. Then a vision—I am kneeling. On the sword, still cold and brown. Though the night is swiftly falling. Though the night is swiftly falling. I quit. I hear them calling— "Quick! yer fiddin'." Knuckles down."

Not Superstitious, But—
Whenever I find a hairpin I know I'll find a new friend.

FARM and GARDEN
BY FRANK RIDGWAY
L ONG ago poultrymen learned that there was truth in the old saw, "Do not count your chickens before they hatch," but there are still many who have not learned the danger of counting chickens as they hatch. Expert poultrymen list this as one of the most common causes for chickens dying in the shell.

Opening the door of the incubator to count or remove the chicks allows cold air to enter. Even the removal of a chick interferes with regulating the temperature of the incubator, because each chick gives off heat. Chicks will be stronger if they are left in the incubator for a while after they hatch. Turning the eggs regularly and keeping the temperature at the proper point

CULVER QUALIFIERS LEAD SWIM 'PRELIMS'

Culver Military academy qualified the most swimmers in the preliminaries of the third annual national interscholastic swim meet last night at Illinois Athletic club. Culver placed ten men in the seven individual events, and teams in both relay races.

The prelims were featured by the setting of a new interscholastic record of 19:15 by Richard Howell of Hyde Park in the forty yard free style event. Howell clipped two-fifths of a second off the old mark. The Hyde Park qualified for the finals in three events, the 40, 100, and 220 yard free style races.

Dick Ward, Hyde Park, will swim in two finals, the 220 and 100, while the Hyde Park relay teams qualified for both the 160 yard and medley races. Howell and Ward placed in their respective events with ease.

Edward Rawlings, the San Diego, Cal., high school star, qualified in the 40 yard swim. He won his heat in the 40 with little effort, but failed to place in the 100.

Woods and Waters BOB BECKER

MORE DOPE ON WATERPROOFING A TENT.

SINCE telling you about the lime-alum recipe for waterproofing a tent, we have received so many inquiries from boys who are making tents this spring that we have decided to slip you another recipe for making a tent shed water like a duck's back.

This one is called the alum and sugar of lead process and is especially fine for a tent to be used before an open fire as this dope just about puts a tent in sparkproof condition. The first thing to do is to rid the tent of sizing by soaking it in rainwater. Then get enough soft water to make the solutions. Rainwater is the best, of course. Two tubs or washboilers will do as receptacles.

In one dissolve alum in hot soft water in the proportion of ¼ pound to the gallon. In the other put the same amount of hot soft water and in it dissolve lead acetate (sugar of lead), using the same proportion—¼ pound to the gallon.

Let the solutions stand until clear. Then add the sugar of lead solution to the alum liquor. This should stand three or four hours or until all the lead sulphate has precipitated. Then pour off the clear liquor from the precipitate into the other tub and thoroughly work the tent in it until you are sure that every part of the cloth is soaked. Let the tent stand in the solution overnight. In the morning you can rinse it well, stretch it, and hang up to dry.

ATHLETICS GOING AHEAD, NOT BACK: WILLIAMS PREXY

Williamstown, Mass., April 4.—[Special.]—At a time when colleges are limiting intercollegiate competition for the repeated reason that students have been paying too much attention to games, with damage to their intellectual pursuits, Williams college plans to make every student compete for intercollegiate honors in athletics.

In furtherance of this plan of expanding sports, a professor of athletics will be installed, and considered just as much a member of the faculty as professors of Latin and Greek.

The new plan, which is strongly supported by President Harry A. Garfield, is not an intramural scheme. The general outlines are now being reduced to working means for getting every Williams student to give his best trial for one or more of the intercollegiate teams.

Ask $1,000,000 Fund.
In announcing the new policy President Garfield has asked the alumni to contribute a fund of $1,000,000 to the college to construct a new gymnasium big enough to permit competitive athletics throughout the rigors of a New England winter, and to provide an endowment fund to keep professors' salaries, including that of the proposed professor of athletics, in step with the cost of living.

"Mental perfection," President Garfield stated, "can be achieved in a body not trained to manual dexterity." The prexy discussed the likelihood of other universities adopting Williams' new sports policy. "With athletics for all, will come a more healthful attitude toward intercollegiate sports, and the present criticism will subside, along with the reasons for it."

Health Giving System.
Under our plan intercollegiate athletics will stand as the culmination of a sane and health giving system, not an excrescence, an abnormality, in an institution given over to intellectual pursuits. It will produce men for the affairs of the world."

The new gym will be erected on the old college campus, until twenty years ago the athletic field for intercollegiate games. It will cost approximately $500,000 and will house a baseball diamond, half a dozen tennis courts, squash courts, and covered hockey rinks. Chicago alumni will be asked to contribute $50,000 to carry out the new athletic arrangements.

There are, there are to be a lot of wanderers around the Randolph this week, and they're going to be wandering OUT. That is, they are unless looking for Cullen Landis, who stars in the terrific film, outwits his own canny. For if ever there was a long winded, such-and-such, drooling, piece of it is "Where Is My Wandering Boy?"

However, let us don the martyrs' crown, for we are probably doomed to a succession of hymnbook horrors on the order of the film under discussion, to prove to us that the movies have NOT gone to the bowwows, and that, on the other hand, their sole aim is to evangelize the world. We are in for weeping mothers, lights in the window, the sailor home from the sea, and Little Eva. Producers will probably plunge into a great pictorial camp meeting and we might as well make up our minds to go to the mourners' bench and mourn RIGHT. Our best known cinema lights are apt to roll Billy Sunday and his stuff and send us galloping heavenward whether we will or not. (Until the Taylor and Arbuckle cases are forgotten.)

We should worry, though, if "Where Is My Wandering Boy?" is a sample of what's coming. If it is, all we need do is stay at home and read a five foot stack of books until the furor is over. For Cullen Landis is the one asset this picture boasts.

This unfortunate young man is cast as a modern prodigal who leaves a bewitched, bespectacled, ague-shaken, married mother and a true and large-eyed sweetheart for the bright lights and a woman, a show girl. Of course she might have been called Mary and still have been a show girl. But she isn't. She's Yvonne and she's a devil, she's a devil, she's a devil in her own home town!

In order to pay valets and diamond lavenders and all the available space and liquid refreshment in the city's largest restaurants he robs the storekeeper of his village. That country

CLOSEUPS

Charles Ray celebrated his birthday with a party the other day. His father, mother, and sister were present. Ruston Kenton's press agent writes that he has coined a new word and that it's "optence." Well, well! Mary Pickford is hard at work on "Toss of the Storm Country." The say she's right on the job at the studio at 8 o'clock every morning and punches her own time clock.

storekeeper was sure a little Rockefeller in disguise!

The prodigal lands in goal. He saves the life of the warden, however, and is given his freedom. Whereat he hopes back home and—organ, tremolo stop— "Where is my boy tonight?"

Why, THERE he is, dearie, crawling home in a snowstorm, all repentant and everything! And there's a light in the window, and his go-goey, praying, trembling old mother is up waiting and there is the large-eyed sweetheart also, with a daisy he gave her once tucked away in the pocket round her neck. His dog is on the job, too, with busy tongue, and from the church nearby come strains of solemn music.

All he lacks is a chee-ild under his arm to make the picture perfect. Perfectly rotten. Unless, of course, you are able to regard it in the light of a comedy. That being the case—it's so bad it's good.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Doris Blake Says:

TODAY'S ROMANCE BIDS FAIR TO CULMINATE HAPPILY.

If a lover begins a series of courtship attentions today, the affair will end happily. If you were born today your nature is inclined to be headstrong and impulsive, which trait you should overcome if you ever want to be happy. Once you overcome it and meet your ideal you will be exceedingly happy. Your marriage to one born in your own sign (Aries, March 21 to April 19) is unusually good. You crave sympathy and affection more than anything else in the world. You are a good and true friend. Your remarkable kindness and enthusiasm concerning people and events makes you very fascinating, and you are on the whole a very helpful friend and companion.

He Loves Her Still.

"Dear Miss Blake, I am in love, sorry to say. The girl with whom I am in love seems to act queer. She at times gives me a 'hello' or a mad look. Now, this girl at one time confessed she did love me, and I am still wondering if she loves me still. Please advise me what to do, as I love her with all my heart. MICKY."

Poor Micky, that's kind of hard

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.
Haven't an Icebox.

"Is there any one who has an ice box no longer needed? My husband is an invalid—world war veteran—working three days a week and earns just enough for a poor living; so we cannot afford to buy one."

Perhaps some one can give Mrs. R. G. an ice box; or help her by suggestion as to how one might be improvised that would serve her needs.

Will Give Camera.

"I have a good plate camera that some one might use to good advantage. I am moving in a few weeks, so the sooner I can place it the better."

"Mrs. A. P."

This is a real opportunity for some amateur to procure a nice outfit. Thank you, Mrs. A. P. luck! You love in spite of mad looks and cold hellos and everything, don't you? My only hope is that one of these days there'll drift along a charming young dear who will give you a melting glance and a merry welcome, as that seems to be the only way out for you.

French and American Designers Favor Fuchsia

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Fuchsia promises to go through the second summer with less danger than that attending its first. This shade, launched in Paris last summer and promised a vogue for the winter which it never quite attained, has really cut its teeth and is no longer the fretful looking thing which it started out to be. It's grown up quite handsome, in fact, and you would hardly recognize these exquisite soft blends of red and purple as the same fuchsia which most of us rejected a while back.

Both French and American designers are exploiting quite a bit of this color, and it is at its best in the crepe. However, a gold lamé shaded into fuchsia is one of the most beautiful of the elaborate materials.

In the above charming evening gown, crepe is used in fuchsia tint simply made up with a trimming of velvet ropes in varying tones of fuchsia.

Follow this with a spray of cold water, and it will be more effective. No exact rule as to the frequency of the shampoo can be given except to wash the hair when dirty. Those who live in the city require more frequent shampooing than those who live in communities where there is less smoke, soot, dust, and grime. But it can be nearly estimated that hair should be washed every two weeks, and certainly not allowed to go unwashed more than three.

SECTION TWO. GENERAL NEWS, MARKETS, WANT ADS.

The Woman He Forgot By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS. Nora Clayton, beautiful and still young, although she is the mother of a 19 year old son, returns to England after an absence of seventeen years. She has been called back by a letter from her friend, Fanny Flute, which tells her that Bill, her son, has fallen deeply in love with Lady Helen Margentys, a woman years older than the boy. When Nora hears the lovely voice by which she earned a living for herself and child during the years of her exile in Italy.

Fanny tells Nora that Bill is arriving that night. When Nora learns the identity of the woman who has captured her son she exclaims: "So it's that woman who has not held the love of my son since he was a child. I thought it happened to me in my life."

INSTALLMENT III.
NORA HEARS HER OWN STORY.
"No reason—only Bill's a perfect beast. He never tells me anything any more. If he writes it's generally only a picture postcard. You see, I've been utterly in the dark. You say this man is a friend of Lady Helen Margentys. Naturally he'll side with her if she's determined to marry Bill."

"My dear, my dear! So little is that true that Lucien told me rather grimly he'd marry her himself sooner than stand by and see the boy wreck his life. What you surely must understand, Nora, is that everybody loves Bill, naughty as he is, and Lucien was a deeply saddened man, but he is not cynical. He could make Helen marry him if he wanted to. My personal opinion is that the woman only became infatuated with Bill because he's much the same type that Lucien is, and she was certainly in love with Lucien at one time."

"Mrs. Flute interrupted herself to look at the clock. 'Now I've got one or two things I must attend to. Perhaps you'd like to lie down for a little while. Dinner is at 8, and Bill's train will get him here just in time. Lucien is motoring down so I don't quite know when to expect him.'"

"Mr. Thorpe—he's coming here?" Nora asked. "Coming—tonight?"

"But I told you an old friend had invited himself for the week-end. That's why I've talked such a lot about him."

"I didn't understand that it was Mr. Thorpe."

Abbott's Meadow lay serenely quiet in the early twilight, and across her long and noisy journey there was something rather terrible to Nora in this country silence. It seemed almost as though she could hear the beating of her own heart.

The housemaid had lighted the candles in the big white bedroom, and while he remained to give further assistance had been required, but Nora was used to dressing herself, and also she wished to be alone. However, there was plenty of company. Ghosts lurked in every corner and peered over her shoulders as she sat before the dressing table. Even the reflection of her own face seemed ghastly and unreal.

Her first night in England after those long years of self-imposed exile, and she was to see him again, the man who had broken her heart, who had cast upon her the cruellest insult it is possible for a man to fling at his wife, who had driven her out of his house with Billy in her arms to face the world as best she could. And she had gone like a terrified child, bewildered, insulted, and, above all, heartbroken.

There had been times when the injustice of it had nearly driven her mad, but she was well over all that now. Both Billy and she had died in that railway accident, as far as Lucien Thorpe was concerned. It was Nora Clayton who sat here dressing herself for dinner, not Ellen Thorpe.

At first it had seemed to her that she could not remain at Abbott's Meadow, that the risk would be too great, that possibly Fanny Flute would not wish her to remain where she confessed the strange circumstance. Also, she wondered whether it might not give her too much pain to meet Lucien again, even though he did not know who she was.

The risk of his recognizing her was really small. Seventeen years had passed, the timber of her voice had completely altered, and Lucien had never seen her. There was a certain tension in the thought that she would like him to see her. What a different place the world must be to him, now that he was no longer blind. But other people were blind—Fanny Flute, for instance. Fanny had remarked that Bill and Lucien Thorpe were the same type, whereas Nora knew them to be as unlike as two peas. Only, of course, Lucien would be older, now. No longer a young man, but a man.

The whirl of a motor broke the silence and she jumped up, her heavy hair tumbling about her shoulders, her breath coming in quick little gasps. The windows overlooked the drive and she tipped to one of them, drew the curtain just the merest crack, and peered out. It was still quite light. She saw him get out of the car and heard his deep, resonant voice greeting Mrs. Flute who had hurried to meet him.

Wave upon wave of sickening emotion surged over Nora. She groped her way back to the dressing table with uncertain, stumbling steps; her hands were cold and fluttering as she fastened her hair. For years she had told herself that she hated the man who had treated her with such cruelty and perhaps she did hate him—but she knew now that he had always dominated her life. He had dominated it through Billy, and she had never quite realized the truth before. To see them together, father and son, while no one but her self knew, would be exquisite torture.

And Bill was her boy, no one could ever take him away from her, not even his own father. Then she suddenly remembered—another woman could take him and threaten to do so. Had Helen Margentys been sent into the world especially to completely ruin one particular woman's life?

Nora hesitated over her choice of dress, and finally decided to make herself as fine as possible. Why not?

She chose her smartest evening frock, a confection of ecru and gold lace, simple with its wide girthing about the hips, but the cut of a perfection only to be achieved by the most expensive dressmaker. It was sleeveless, and a woman requires beautiful arms to wear such a garment. Nora stared at her reflection critically, then added a little color to her lips and thrust a Spanish comb into the thick coils of her hair. She possessed no jewels and the only ornament of that description was her wedding ring.

She wondered whether Lucien Thorpe would say she was to hand him that ring and to look at the inscription inside—"Lucien to Ellen, Virtute et fide," followed by the date of their marriage. He had chosen the motto himself, or rather it belonged to his family. The ring hung a little loosely, for Nora had grown thinner since her illness, and sometimes she wore it on her middle finger, but tonight she put it back where it belonged.

Mrs. Flute had said that Bill's train would get him here only in time for dinner; he might not even be able to change, and dinner was at eight. As the hands of the clock crept around Nora grew increasingly nervous. It seemed impossible for her to leave the sanctuaries of her room; once she had crossed the threshold the unknown faced her. Here she was tormented but safe.

A knock sounded at the door. It was Marion Flute, a charming picture of girlhood in rose pink come to tell her that dinner was to be postponed half an hour because Mrs. Flute thought the train might be late.

They went down together. It was easier for Nora, with her arm slipped around Marion's waist. The girl's friendly chatter helped her immensely. She found herself talking quite naturally and a passing glimpse in a mirror told her that she did not look in the least like a woman standing by a grave from which her long buried youth and happiness were about to be exhumed.

"Will you excuse me just a minute?" Marion asked when they had reached the drawing room. "I have to speak to Bates about the wine."

Again Nora was alone, and again the sense of nervous uneasiness seized her. The drawing room, with its parquet floor sparsely strewn with rugs and furniture seemed immense. The long windows opened upon the terrace and she stepped through one of them, thinking to escape for a moment from that feeling of unrestrained panic.

But the man she both feared and longed to meet was there. He had been leaning against the balustrade and he turned so quickly at the sound of her step that she had no time in which to retreat.

"Is that you, Fanny? O, I beg your pardon."

"I am Mrs. Clayton," said Nora.

"Good gracious, you can't be Bill Clayton's mother!"

Mrs. Flute told Nora that Lucien Thorpe was not given to making compliments, and doubtless the abrupt exclamation was wrong from him by sheer surprise. In the softened light Nora looked a mere girl and Thorpe was thoroughly bewildered.

"O yes, I am Billy's mother," she replied. "And you are Mr. Thorpe, I suppose."

The man inclined his head in acknowledgment of her question and his grave, dark eyes seemed to be boring her through. They had always been thoughtful eyes when sightless, but now the light was in them and it irradiated his whole countenance. Yes, he was older, of course, and perhaps not quite so handsome as he had been in his youth, but there was a rugged, stern quality in the features that made up in strength what they had lost in mere physical beauty.

An awkward pause followed and Lucien Thorpe wondered why he should suddenly feel at a complete conversational loss. He had often heard his friend, Mrs. Flute, mention Nora Clayton, and recently he had met her son, but they both seemed to him to be of the same type, and it was perfectly natural that they should mutually introduce themselves, yet the awkwardness was there and Thorpe could even sense a vague hostility towards him in the attitude of the lovely and incredibly youthful mother of Bill Clayton. He had also a fugitive impression that somewhere he had met her before, but that, was scarcely likely. Mrs. Flute had told him that her friend had lived abroad for nearly likely. Mrs. Flute had told him that her friend had lived abroad for nearly likely. Mrs. Flute had told him that her friend had lived abroad for nearly likely.

Years, and Thorpe himself confessed his holidays to Wales and Scotland. (Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)

FORM COUNCIL TO STUDY CITY'S TRANSIT NEEDS

Stormy Scenes Attend New Group's Birth.

The All-Chicago council is now ready to study the city's transportation problems and recommend a solution. Emerging from a storm of dispute caused by proponents of various subway schemes at a meeting last night in the Hotel La Salle the council announced its refusal to consider "side issues."

A committee of twenty-one representing the council will meet tomorrow to commence work. E. E. Gore of the Chicago Association of Commerce was elected president of the organization over his protest.

Leaders Are Members.
The new organization represents fifty-five industrial and civic groups. Many of Chicago's most prominent men are included in its personnel.

So many persons who had put subway schemes at issue by insisting on speaking at Chairman Gore at times had difficulty maintaining order.

The meeting became lively when Francis M. Case spoke in advocacy of a subway from 23d street to Division street under the loop. He said that the council's local transportation committee had a plan to submit an ordinance to voters at the June election. This assertion started trouble.

"Is it the purpose of this new organization to put over an endorsement of a loop subway?" somebody asked. "No, it is not," Chairman Gore shouted.

President John Dooley of the South Austin Improvement association sprang to his feet. "If you are trying anything of that kind I'll take my delegates out of here right now," he exclaimed.

No Plan Adopted.
"As I have said, the organization has no plan," Mr. Gore replied. "The Association of Commerce, which is responsible for this meeting has no plan to advance. We are interested only in Chicago."

"We will never stand for a loop subway," shouted a north side delegate. "We question the right of the city to spend $24,000,000 on a loop subway."

Chairman Gore finally terminated the discussion. The meeting was then adjourned, with the various delegations having arrived at a decision to close.

RENTERS GOUGED BY TAX INCREASE, POOLE CHARGES

Unscrupulous Chicago landlords are taking advantage of increased taxes on real estate to boost rents, the Chicago Renters' Association charges. It says the increase frequently amounting to four times the tax assessment, it was disclosed yesterday.

The disclosure was embodied in a report submitted to the council by the committee by Russell J. Poole, its secretary. He has been conducting an investigation of hundreds of complaints against high rents received by Chairman Kaindl of the committee.

Aside from exposing methods to which many landlords have resorted to extract more money from those unable to pay higher rents, the report predicts lower rents. This prophecy is based on the belief of Mr. Poole that present rents have a relation to inflated values, which, he says, can last long because of the present building boom in Chicago.

An example of passing tax boons to more along to the renters, Mr. Poole gives the case of tenants in a building on 43d street, between Berkeley and Greenwood avenues, containing fifty-three apartments and ten stores.

"In 1921 the owner paid a tax of $2,566.68 on this building, and the tax payable this year is $4,932.32," the report says. "The increase is $1,058.45. The agent for the building, explaining that the great increase in taxes made necessary large rent boosts, succeeded in increasing the rent revenue on the building for this year $6,024. Thus the increase in taxes paid nearly six times over and the net profit to the landlord through the tax subterfuge was $4,985.57."

Man Confesses Embezzling to Pay Back Former Victim

Horace M. Stokes, 39 years old, 4407 Van Buren street, confessed to the police last night that he had embezzled more than $4000 from the Great Lakes Printing company, 2255 West Roosevelt road. Stokes is said to have confessed to Sergeant McSwiggen and O'Malley that he had been discharged from the T. W. Proctor company after he had been caught stealing funds from the company. He said he had embezzled from the present firm to pay back the Proctor concern.

GRANTING it the best of intentions, which is something, it still cannot be said of the La Salle's new place that it entirely achieves its purpose of being a good show. It is afflicted with a number of the ills musical comedies are heir to, and the chief of them is a plethora of words which do not entertain. Agreeable people speak them, filling their allotted time upon the stage, but the proceeding is a hindrance rather than a help to gaiety.

If you are seeing "Lola," it will be well to disregard this matter of stupid lyrics and a dull book, and center your attention upon the dancing. It occurs at not too frequent intervals, but when it comes it is very good. Some of it is contributed by Fred Heider, a lean and glibly comedian given to grotesque posturings, some by an effervescent mite named Herman Evgott; some by the piquant Miss Vera Myers and the pleasant Miss Helen Groody, and some by a sprightly chorus which, when the occasion arises, seems quite willing to work its collective head off.

Graceful in the dance, too, is Miss Helen Shipman, the central figure of the festivities. She is an engaging person, as you remember, if you saw her in "Irene," but in "Lola" her charm is only about 50 per cent efficient, since she devotes part of her time to a rather calamitous imitation of Miss Charlotte Greenwood, for whom the play was written. When she forgets Miss Greenwood for a moment, she is delightful.

The omnipresent plot sends her from Kokomo, Ind., to Bermuda, with a round trip ticket and $13, to see about a hotel she has inherited. She supposes it to be prosperous, but it is not, and shortly after her arrival she and her guests are evicted by the short-lived proprietor, who is the proprietor of the paper or something, and there you are.

A. J. Herbert is rather effectively the Englishman of the tale and among the others present is Eddie Garvie, fat, vociferous, and amusingly like a reincarnation of John Bunney. Joseph C. Smith, an old timer at the La Salle, returns for some brief glimpses in a waltz number, the best item of Mr. Hanley's score.

WOUNDED GIRL FIGHTS FOR LIFE; FATHER IS HELD

Mary Kandalic, 18, 4715 South Elizabeth street, who received two bullets Saturday night intended for her 15 year old sister, Annie, from her father's revolver, continued to fight for life yesterday at the county hospital. Physicians say she has a bare chance to live.

Vendalin Kandalic, the father, insisted to the police that he shot to protect Annie's honor. The police believe, on the contrary, that he was intoxicated. The shooting, according to the wounded girl, occurred after he had left a saloon.

CHARGES POWER INTERESTS HOLD UP SEAWAY PLAN

Canadian Tells of the Chief Obstacles.

Private power interests in the United States and Canada were named as the chief opponents of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway by Maj. A. C. Lewis, secretary of the National Water Power Association of Canada, in an address yesterday before the Rotary club at the Sherman house.

"Large cities in Canada as well as eastern cities of the United States have been fighting the building of the canal," said Maj. Lewis, "but they have not been furnishing the most formidable opposition. That comes from power interests who wish to control the St. Lawrence for selfish ends."

Urges International Commission.
Maj. Lawrence declared that immediate cooperation between Canada and the United States which would lead to the appointment of some sort of international commission was the step needed most at the present time.

"Building of the seaway, even though it costs $300,000,000, would be enormously profitable for both nations," he declared. "In this country it would relieve the problem of unemployment and eventually widen enormously the market of the middle west."

Points Out Past Benefits.
"Some people would be surprised to learn of the large amount of freight which passes through the Soo canal. They think that only a small amount of freight would go through the proposed St. Lawrence seaway. They are wrong. Why, last year more than three times as many vessels passed through the Soo canal as passed through the Panama and Suez canals."

"The farmer would save at the minimum 5 cents a bushel on every bushel of grain exported if he could ship by the proposed seaway. In Canada this would mean a saving of $22,000,000 in one year's crop."

Maj. Lewis laughed at the argument of eastern interests that the building of the canal through Canadian territory would imperil the United States in the event of war.

Celebration of Canadian week, of which Maj. Lewis' speech was a part, will be continued today, with speeches scheduled before the Association of Commerce and at the Midway Masonic temple.

Catch Alleged Bill Raisers; Woman Gives Police Tip

Hammond, Ind., April 4.—On information furnished by a woman, Hammond police today arrested Mike Kato, Philip Kosak, and Max Neuchik, all of 353 Mansfield avenue, Chicago, charged them with raising $5 bills to twenties, and sent them to Indianapolis to await action of the federal grand jury.

Two Attorneys Chosen to Push CLINNIN PROBE

U. S. Appoints Tolman and Montgomery.
John R. Montgomery and Maj. Edgar B. Tolman, prominent Chicago attorneys, were appointed to assume charge of the investigation of alleged irregularities in the office of United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne, growing out of complaints against Col. John V. Clinlin, suspended as assistant district attorney, according to an announcement made late yesterday by Assistant Attorney General Rush H. Holland of Washington.

Both lawyers announced their willingness to aid the government in the matter. They will be appointed special assistants to the attorney general during the investigation and will have complete charge of presenting to the grand jury whatever evidence is uncovered by investigators of the bureau of investigation.

Three Men Confer.
The appointments were made following a conference with Federal Judge George B. Carpenter yesterday afternoon. Earlier in the day Mr. Holland had visited with the two attorneys and discussed the matter with them. The three men conferred with Judge Carpenter for over an hour.

The work which the two men will undertake is the investigation of the (Tribune Photo.) Clinlin case, in which his name was mentioned. Col. Clinlin made the request in the form of a petition filed before former Judge K. M. Landis.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Although the New York stock market started off with another rush at the opening, the total business transacted fell a little short of the previous session and most stocks suffered a reaction before the close. At the opening, there was another accumulation of buying orders as a result of the advertisement which the market had given itself by sharp advances in price. Transactions in the first hour alone exceeded 450,000 shares, reported to be the largest single hour's business since April, 1920. Before the reaction set in the "average" established a new high record for the year at 76.94 while the closing was 75.85, a net loss of 1/4 of a point for the day.

Despite the general reaction in price, numerous issues ended the day with substantial gains. Those stocks which closed higher because of special reasons included Davison Chemical, which gained 3/4, General Electric, Atlantic Gulf, American Beet Sugar, which closed 1 1/4 up, Cuba Cane preferred, United Fruit, which jumped 3/4, Utah Copper, Marine common and preferred, Pullman, American Sugar, American Tobacco B, and numerous specialties.

The proposed merger of the Thompson Sheet and Tube company, the Steel and Tube Company of America, and the Inland Steel company has been called off, according to reports. The recent rapid improvement in the steel industry, it was said, has made it more difficult for the heads of the various companies to come to an agreement. But with operations on the increase and expectations that the independents will show profits for the current quarter, the belief prevails that the big merger will fall through and that the companies will again be willing to shift for themselves.

Officials of metal producing corporations were overjoyed on receiving information from Washington that a 2 per cent tariff is to be put on steel within the near future. It has been their contention that the admittance of steel imports to this country free of all duties has enabled some of the foreign producers to undersell American producers in their own market.

Substantial evidence that the tide in the Iowa business depression has turned is shown in the combined statement of the 214 savings banks, 405 state banks, and twenty-one trust companies under Iowa state control, made at the close of business March 10. In the period since the last statement was made at the close of business Dec. 31, 1921, to March 10, deposits increased $24,820,204; bills payable and discounts have decreased $11,770,155.

Four directors, including President Eugene W. Grace, were re-elected at a meeting of stockholders of the Bethlehem Steel corporation. The others were Grayson M. P. Murphy, Henry S. Snyder, and Eugene V. A. Thayer.

Permitting to issue $1,000,000 common stock with which to purchase the third rail properties of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago railroad was asked of the Illinois Commerce Commission by the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin Railroad company. The property to be exchanged is worth $13,636,000, the petition says.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation, held in Richmond, Va., the directors were re-elected. The directors will meet Friday in Chicago for the election of officers.

Stockholders of Eastman Kodak company ratified the proposal to change the 260,000 shares of common stock of $100 par value into 2,600,000 shares of no par value. Ratifying directors were re-elected.

RAILROAD NOTES

W. A. Colston, director of the bureau of finance of the interstate commerce commission, has submitted his resignation, effective May 1. He will become general counsel and vice president of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad. Mr. Colston was the first director of the bureau of finance, which was created after enactment of the Esch-Cummings railroad law in 1920.

During the month of March the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific moved 123,126 cars, of which 75,313 were loaded on home rails and 50,023 received loaded from connections compared with a total of 117,322 for March, 1921, of which 71,091 were locally loaded and 46,231 received from connecting lines.

The Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, a deficit after total deductions of $7,080,000, an increase in deficit of $11,940,837, compared with 1920.

Reports from 180 class "T" railroads show net operating income for February of $44,284,495, against deficit of $6,463,356 a year ago.

The Lehigh Valley railroad announces the establishment of a group insurance policy covering 20,000 employees and representing insurance of about $20,000,000, effective as of April 1, with the Travelers' Insurance company of Hartford. The amount of insurance will range from $5,000 to $4,000, according to occupation. For employees over 70 the amount will be $1,000.

CORPORATION EARNINGS

UNITED STATES INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL. For the year ended on Dec. 31, 1921, reports earnings of $1,486,041, after general expenses, against $6,102,831 in 1920. The balance available for dividends totaled $906,632, against $3,339,488, while after the payment of dividends the company reported a deficit of $23,368 against a surplus of $906,498 in the previous year. Inventory adjustment and special depreciation was charged to the profit and loss account, with the result that this item dropped from $13,864,144 at the close of 1920 to $10,398,379 at the end of 1921. STANDARD OIL OF CALIFORNIA. The annual statement for 1921 shows the

INTERNATIONAL SALES.

For year ended Dec. 31, 1921, net income was $643,697, after charges and federal taxes, equal to $15.55 a share, against $692,793, or $16.09 in 1920.

GREAT LAKES STEAMSHIP.

Reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, net earnings of $376,056, compared with $2,237,373 in 1920. Profit and loss surplus as of Dec. 31, 1921, totaled $582,736, compared with a profit and loss surplus of $800,948 at the close of 1920.

American Tobacco Co. Procter & Gamble
Colgate & Company Liggett & Meyers
Amer. Car and Fdy. Co. The Ford Motor Co.

Total net assets are reported in excess of $17,000,000 and net profits, after inventory write offs, have for six years averaged $876,409 per annum—or 2 1/2 times maximum annual bond interest.

Twenty-Year Customs Administration 5 1/2%

Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Repayable at maturity at 101 and interest

Dated March 1, 1922

Due March 1, 1942

The issue of these Bonds has received the approval of the United States Government required by the terms of the American-Dominican Convention of 1907.

Principal, sinking fund, premium and interest payable in New York, Boston, and Chicago, at the offices of Lee, Higginson & Co., Fiscal Agents for the service of this loan, in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness, exempt from Dominican Taxes, present or future.

Not callable before March 1, 1931

Sinking Fund, first payment April 1, 1930, sufficient to retire entire issue by maturity, provides for purchase in the open market or call by lot at 101 and interest beginning March 1, 1931, of at least one-twelfth of the issue each year.

From his letter, Lieutenant Commander D. W. Rose, S. C. U. S. Navy, the Officer Administering the Affairs of the Department of Finance and Commerce for the Military Government, summarizes as follows:

SECURITY: The Military Government of Santo Domingo guarantees "the acceptance and validation of this Bond issue by any Government of the Dominican Republic as a legal, binding and irrevocable obligation of the Dominican Republic," and further agrees that during the life of this loan customs duties will be collected by an official appointed by the President of the United States, and that the loan now authorized shall have a direct lien on these customs revenues. For the past 14 1/2 years the annual average customs revenues have amounted to over twice present interest and fixed sinking fund charges.

These Bonds will become a first charge upon customs revenues (subject only to the expenses of their collection) after the retirement, not later than 1929, of the loans of 1908 and 1918 of which there were outstanding January 1, 1922, $7,534,000 and $1,627,000 respectively, now a prior charge upon customs revenues.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS: "The Military Government of Santo Domingo engages that during the term of this loan, no future bonds of the Republic will be issued, secured by customs revenues, other than the total authorized amount of Bonds of this issue, (namely, $6,700,000 and an additional amount not exceeding $3,300,000 which may subsequently be issued after previous agreement between the Government of the Republic, and the Government of the United States), unless the annual average customs revenues for the five years immediately preceding amount to at least 1 1/2 times total charges on all obligations secured by customs revenues, including charges of any new loan, and that the present customs tariff will not be changed during the life of this loan without previous agreement between the Dominican Government and the Government of the United States."

REVENUES AND EXPENDITURES: Customs revenues from August 1, 1907 to December 31, 1921, amounted to about $56,728,000, averaging approximately $3,912,000 per year. For the six years ended December 31, 1921, customs revenues averaged over $4,500,000. Annual interest and fixed sinking fund requirements on the entire funded debt of the Republic, upon completion of present financing, amount to $1,857,500. Since 1907, annual customs revenues have been ample for the service of all funded debt. Total revenues, for the six years ended December 31, 1921, averaged annually $6,902,055, while expenditures, not including public improvements, averaged annually $6,320,494.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Proceeds are to be used for the retirement of a portion of external indebtedness, all internal indebtedness, for public works and highways and other purposes.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC occupies the eastern part of the island of Haiti, West Indies. Total area of the Republic over 19,000 square miles, or larger than the combined areas of Vermont and New Hampshire. Population in 1921 was 894,587. Principal products are sugar, cocoa, tobacco and coffee. Foreign trade has grown from $9,632,926 in 1905 to $45,199,375 in 1921, and has more than doubled in the past eight years.

Butter prices in Chicago declined 1/4 to 1/2c under the grades listed. Increased offerings and a slower demand caused the weak market. New York was unsettled and other eastern markets firmer. Cheese prices here were lower and in the east the markets were easier to a shade lower with liberal offerings.

The egg market was unsettled with liberal offerings. Live hens and broilers brought to advance. Potatoes from the west were more difficult to sell, while northern stock moved fairly at former prices. Arrivals 40 cars, with 200 cars on track.

Bandits Slay Man in View of Sweetheart in Wilson Avenue District—Mary Baker to Wed

"Of course I'm going to marry Allister; that's all there is to say!" "A perfect lover never loves." "We'll spend our honeymoon in Italy, and perhaps India. How long? Until our money gives out." said Mary Landon Baker yesterday.

WILLIAM PARLON, 4934 South Michigan avenue, killed in front of his sweetheart's home.

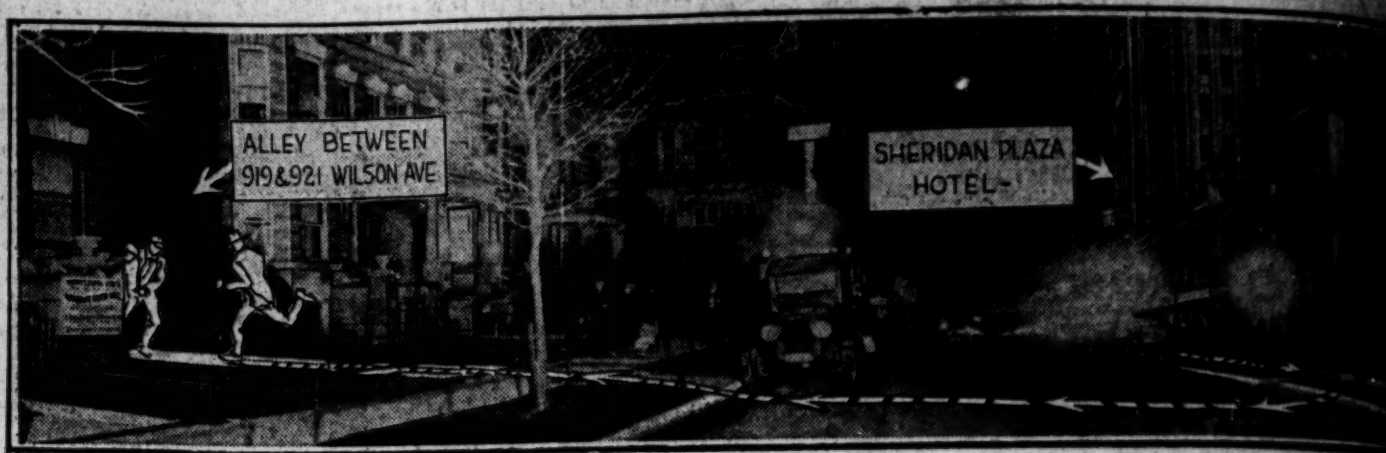

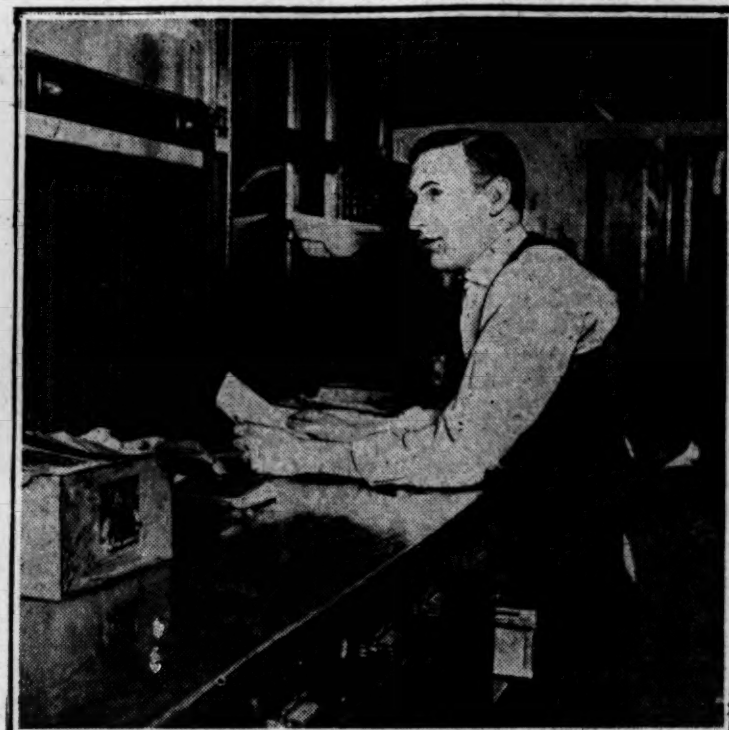

DIAGRAM OF SHOOTING. The large building in the distance at right side of street is the Sheridan-Plaza hotel, where two policemen separated to trail two suspicious characters. They walked down right side of street to foreground,

The Sanitary District of Chicago was created by the Illinois legislature in 1889. It is thirty-three years old and now exists as a something that has more political influence than it has as a practical unit. The Sanitary District is a practical political aspect of the city of Chicago. It will continue as such until it is absorbed into some consolidated various taxing bodies of the metropolitan district. Becomes Super-Municipality. All that has happened in a few years, and through a succession of decrees from the war department, has permitted the Sanitary District to become, in a sense, a super-municipality—even the city of Chicago. The Sanitary District controls the destinies of the city of Chicago and all its important matters affecting sewage and through those, its pure water supply and health conditions. Three trustees are to be elected by each party on April 11. They are elected in November. Their term will have much to do with expenditures which will bring the cost of the district since its formation in 1889 up to approximately $400,000, when the highest estimate of the eventual cost by its first advocates was less than $20,000,000.

How the District Came About. Briefly here's the district's story. The '80's Chicago was a city of 1,000,000 people. It had a population of 1,000,000. On its north was Lake Michigan. On its south was Lake Michigan. On its west was Lake Michigan. On its east was Lake Michigan. The city was a city of 1,000,000 people. It had a population of 1,000,000. Long Outgrown First Purpose. As long ago as 1907 the district completed the purpose for which it was originally created, at an estimated cost to the taxpayers of about $400,000. In 1908 the legislature had authorized the district to make use of its power at what is now known as the Lockport power plant in the general electrical current. In 1909 the district was authorized to use its power at what is now known as the Lockport power plant in the general electrical current.
